School bus collision injures 32 children

BELL CITY— Two Bell City school buses collided on a gravel county road one mile east of Johnson Grocery on Route Y at 8:35 a.m. today, sending 32 youngsters to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Six of the children were admitted to the hospital for further treatment, but the other 26 were released after emergency treatment. A hospital spokesman said none of the injuries were considered serious and that some of the students admitted to the hospital suffered broken bones and one had a mild concussion.

According to the highway patrol the buses collided at the intersection of Routes Y and DD when an eastbound bus driven by Carl Jacob Driskell of Bell City and a northbound bus driven by Spencer Bird of Bell City entered the unmarked intersection at the same time. Both buses then ran off the road and one overturned. Neither driver required medical attention.

The hospital spokesman said all of the children who received hospital treatment were elementary school pupils.

The students who received treatment include:

The names of the six students admitted for further treatment were not available.

Land annexation may be ready for April election

With the chances believed good for a land annexation proposal to be included on the April 2 city election ballot, the City Council Monday night decided to add 168 acres to the annexation proposal.

The land is owned by Lula Bell, William Moore and Burt Rowe Jr., and is located north of Hart's cemetery on North Ingram Road.

City Attorney Manuel Drumm told the council a ruling on the annexation proposal could clear the Circuit Court in two weeks. He said he expects the proposal to be ready for voter approval in time for the April 2 election.

Land previously approved by the council includes 1,545 acres north of the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds, a 1,000- foot strip of land along Keystone Drive and the LaValle property south of the city along Highway 60.

Mayor Frank Ferrell said the city will receive $48,000 from Associated Natural Gas Co. as its franchise fee this year. The figure amounts to five per cent of the company's expected receipts in the city. Payments will be made at $4,000 per month.

The council reinstated a liquor license owned by Aaron Marble, 108 Alabama St., after it had been revoked for non- use.

The council recently decided that unused licenses were to be revoked because they constituted an abuse of the licensing system. A city ordinance permits one license to be issued for every 1,250 residents of the city.

Marble said he had been forced to close his grocery and package liquor store in 1968 because of poor health, and only now has been able to consider reopening his store.

The council gave him until July 1, the license renewal date to reopen his store.

The possibility of establishing a Human Resources Commission with city funds was raised by Ferrell, who said he has been approached by people in town seeking funds for human resource programs.

The council did not seem too interested in such a program because of a lack of city funds.

The council approved the rezoning of the north side of Lee Street, between Jaycee and Lions streets, from single- family to two- family dwellings.

The council approved a license to sell 3.2 per cent beer at Pasquale's Pizza in Midtowner Village Shopping Center.

32 children hurt in bus accident

Morehouse preparing to assist manufacturing plant expansion

MOREHOUSE-- The City Council is laying the foundation for assisting a proposed expansion of Himmelberger- Harrison Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of Rowe Furniture Corp.

Rowe officials have indicated an interest in an addition to its present facility, but that no action will be taken for about a year. A bond issue will then have to be passed, and Mayor Marlin Swinger stated at Monday night's council meeting that construction would probably begin in 1976.

In the meantime, the council is making preliminary plans.

Three Missouri Utilities officials— Clyde Wilson of Cape Girardeau, vice president; Bill Likens of Cape Girardeau, manager of electrical engineering; and Morris French of Sikeston, district manager— met with the council Monday night to answer a question from Rowe officials about the kind of power sources that will be available when the company is ready to build.

Wilson told the council Missouri Utilities plans to upgrade the area by the summer of 1975 by placing a new power line from Sikeston to Morehouse.

He also said a 161 kilovolt bulk substation is being built in the Miner area and that by the latter part of the year, another substation will be built near Essex, placing Morehouse almost directly between two bulk high voltage stations.

Tentative plans have been made to install a line from Essex to Morehouse. However, Wilson said there is no money in the utility firm's budget for the extension at the present time.

Swinger told Wilson the answer was "what we wanted to hear." City Attorney Joe Fuchs was instructed to inform the attorney for the Rowe firm about the findings.

Swinger told the aldermen that pipes at the water plant have been cleaned and that the present valves will be repaired until new ones arrive in approximately six months.

In a special council session on Jan. 30, Tom Gleason, manager of See-Mor Cable TV, told the council the company will charge its customers at a rate of $5 a month, effective Jan. 1.

Councilmen told Gleason at the January meeting that customers were being charged $6 a month, which was not in accordance with an ordinance that Morehouse customers would not be charged a rate higher than that charged in Sikeston. Sikeston's rates are $5 a month.

The council agreed to lower the franchise fee to the company from five per cent to three per cent in compliance with a Federal Communications Commission ruling.

Aldermen told Gleason that when the company adds three proposed additional channels, another ordinance will have to be passed.

Saturday was Guard Day

Saturday was celebrated by Company C of the 1140th Engineering Battalion as National Guard Day in Sikeston. The day was not too different from other guard meetings for these guardsmen who are routinely checking heavy equipment used by the local company. From left are Pfc Gary A. McKown, Spec. 4 Tony Stricklin and Spec. 4 Tevis Noles. The day also kicked off Operation Fill-Up, a statewide program of intensive recruiting to run through Feb. 17. Men interested in joining the National Guard may contact recruiters at the armory on South Main Street.

Dexter issues final Arvin bonds

DEXTER — The City Council Monday night passed an ordinance to issue the final $2 million of $9 million worth of industrial revenue bonds for construction of the Arvin Industries plant. The new 300,000 square- foot plant on Fram Road is nearing completion and production is expected to begin this month.

Arvin Industries manufactures over 3,000 different automobile parts and will employ 400 persons when the Dexter plant reaches full operation.

A second ordinance was passed declaring the results of the special election held Jan. 22 and authorizing the issuance of $600,000 worth of industrial bonds for expansion of the Frame Corp. plant. The 100,000 square- foot expansion will be used for production and warehousing and will permit employment of 70 additional workers.

Voters approved the latter bond issue by a vote of 386-5.

Mayor Willis Conner announced that Barney Miller has been appointed chairman of the board of zoning adjustments. Other board members include Ben Cowan Jr., Bob Taylor, Terry Haws and Rae Sisler.

After a report by Fire Chief Al Banken regarding the purchase of a used ladder truck for the fire department, the council voted against purchasing the truck by a 5-1 margin.

Conner said he would like to see the city have the truck but that the budget could not stand the expense at the present time. The truck would cost $18,750 delivered to Dexter.

City Attorney Paul McGhee asked the council to name judges and clerks for the April 2 general election at the council's Feb. 18 meeting. The filing deadline for candidates seeking office in the election is March 19.

Residents of Water District No.1, who live outside the southwest city limits, will not be allowed to hook onto city water lines. The decision was made after a report from the committee appointed to study the matter.

Conner read a letter from the Missouri State Highway Department stating that the department would remove the flashing lights located at Catalpa Street and Highway 114 the week of Feb. 11. The department stated that the light which was erected in 1957, no longer serves any purpose.

However, the council disagreed with the letter as to the usefulness of the light

Marshall to run for county collector

Tom Marshall announces that he is a candidate for re-election for the office of Scott County collector on the Democratic ballot in the Aug. 6 primary election.

In 1970 Marshall was appointed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to fill the unexpired term of Aubrey Michael and was successfully elected to his first full term.

Marshall, 43, is a native of Scott County, raised in Blodgett and is the son of Mrs. Ben F. Marshall Jr. and the late Mr. Marshall. He is married to the former Phyllis Garner and they have three sons, Jim, Mike and Bob. The Marshalls live on the family farm two miles north of Sikeston.

Marshall is a graduate of St. Henry's High School in Charleston and attended the University of Missouri where he was a member of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity.

He served in the Army during the Korean conflict and, after being honorably discharged, returned to his farming partnership with his brother Ben F. Marshall III of Blodgett.

In 1958 he was elected to serve as a member of the Scott County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee. In October 1964, Marshall became office manager of the county ASC office in Benton. On April 10, 1966, he was appointed by the Missouri State ASC Committee as fieldman for a nine- county area, a position he held until his resignation Oct. 10, 1969.

Tom Marshall

Marshall is a member of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church in Sikeston, Sikeston Council of the Knights of Columbus, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus in Cape Girardeau, Sikeston Exchange Club, American Legion Post 114, Elks Lodge No. 2319, Missouri State Democratic Club and an associate member of the Scott County Young Democrats.

Marshall pledges to continue to give full and undivided attention to the duties and the responsibilities of the collector's office and says he will serve the people of Scott County faithfully to the best of his ability.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If everything came easy, there would be no satisfaction in making an effort.

* * *

They don't give medals for being dependable, but maybe they should. People you can bank on, day- in and day-out, are a rare and wonderful breed.

Have you ever stopped to count up the people you really value in this life - people who are really important to you?

Think it over and you'll find that they are the people you can depend on, people who will stick with you through thick and thin. Your parents, your wife or husband, the friend who listens to your troubles, the pal who would give you the shirt off his back -- they're always there when you need them. That's why they mean so much to you. Fair weather friends are a dime a dozen.

Being dependable makes you the kind of friend people respect and cherish. It makes you a tremendously more valuable employe. Every company needs people are are dependable, people who:

--are on the job every day,

--finish what they start,

--don't need to be supervised every minute,

--will work extra time, if need be, to help the company make good its promises to customers.

A dependable person doesn't need to advertise the fact -- it's visible in everything he does and soon becomes common knowledge to everyone he comes in contact with. Likewise, an undependable person can't hide, disguise, or cover-up his shortcomings no matter how hard he tries.

No business, government, or other organization can last for long without dependable people. Just as you rely on your company for steady work and a regular pay check, your employer banks on you to hold up your part of the bargain. A fair- minded employe gives his company the same kind of dependable performance that he expects from the company in return.

THE RIGHT TO LIVE

The Supreme Court, in a new decision, has held that rules forcing female school teachers to quit their jobs midway through pregnancies "unduly penalize a female teacher for deciding to bear a child."

While not taking issue with the high court's ruling, we believe it sets in even bolder relief the wrongness of the same court's abortion rulings last year. Those rulings held, in effect, that a pregnant woman has a legal right to destroy the life of her unborn child at any time prior to birth.

Despite the Supreme Court's show of concern for the welfare of pregnant women and utter lack of concern for the welfare of their unborn children, we continue to believe that the God - given and constitutional right to life should not be abridged because of the age — or lack of age — of the persons involved.

The familiar argument that the fetus is part of the mother and thus should be hers alone to deal with is fallacious. Dr. A. W. Liley of New Zealand, an internationally recognized authority in fetology, has written that, "biologically, at no stage can we subscribe to the view that the fetus is a mere appendage of the mother.Genetically,mother and baby are separate individuals from conception.

Senator James Buckley of New York has introduced a constitutional amendment counteracting the Supreme Court rulings (in Roe against Wade and Doe against Bolton) and guaranteeing to "all human beings, including their unborn offspring at every stage of their biological development" equal protection under the constitution. Senator Buckley's amendment would not apply, however, in an emergency when a reasonable medical certainty exists that continuation of the pregnancy will cause the death of the mother. This stipulation is vital.

To become law, the Buckley amendment will first have to be approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress as well as three-fourths of the 50 States. We believe that, however dim the prospects for approval of the amendment, the importance of the issue is well worth the struggle.

Life is sacred at every stage. No court and no person should be given the right to willfully decide who shall die and who shall live. God alone has the right to make those decisions.

SCHOOL CLOSINGS
JUSTIFIED

Now and then someone criticizes the schools for closing when the weather worsens and traveling is dangerous and difficult.

In doing so, some of the older ones recall that they "went to school in all kinds of weather" - regardless of how bad it may have been - and that their schools never closed because of the weather.

What they forget is tha times have changed.

When the editor and a lo of others were younger, there were no buses, districts were smaller and no buses were needed. Children could walk to their school without too much exposure and little if any danger.

Last year in Missouri more than 640,000 students rode 7,930 school buses, and they were mostly too far from their school to walk.

When the buses can't run, neither can the school. Rather than take a chance on the lives of the bus-riding children and the drivers, there is nothing a school administrator can do but dismiss classes when traveling gets too rough.

Without buses the schools can't operate because they'd have few pupils.

FURTHER LOSS
OF FAITH

In the House and Senate at Washington and across the nation, President Nixon last week further lost the confidence of the people when technical experts reported to Judge John Sirica that the 18-minute gap in the crucial White House tapes was not and could not have been accidental.

This exploded the story of Presidential Secretary Rosemary Woods that she probably damaged the tapes by accidentally pushing a button that erased or garbled the messages that were originally on them.

The experts swore that the tapes had been re-run at least five times, and probably more.

Their undisputed testimony now leaves President Nixon, Rosemary Woods and any others that may have had access to the tapes far out on a limb, and with no ladder.

It confirmed the suspicion of most people that the conversation between President Nixon and H. R. Haldeman three days after Watergate, was damaging to the President and his claims he new nothing about the Watergate coverup, and that the record was deliberately erased and garbled.

In addition to this, it irritated most people to think that either the President or his helpers thought the public and the experts were so dumb they'd never be able to discover the truth about what had happened.

The incident will now be complete if Judge Sirica or a grand jury can find out "whodunit".

HOME TOWN PAPER
CHALLENGES
VICE PRESIDENT

It was an odd bit of information, but television one night recently announced that Vice President Gerald Ford's home town newspaper had "taken after him" over his continued and loud support of President Nixon.

Many persons have wondered just what Mr. Ford hopes to gain by his continuous rallies for Mr. Nixon. It is quite true that Mr. Ford owes his office to Mr. Nixon, but he also must be aware of the fact that because he was a Nixon supporter is the very reason that he is Vice President today.

It seems so odd to us that these prominent Republicans still seek to cover up for Mr. Nixon. Surely none of them can approve what Richard Nixon and his cohorts have done in recent months. If they do approve of all that has taken place, not one of them is fit to hold office.

You can't fool the American public too long and too far. The fact that the latest report shows that Richard Nixon's standing in the nation is only 27 per cent should let most of the big-wigs know that Mr. Nixon is not the most popular man in the United States.

Today he stands at his lowest ebb, probably in his entire political career. That doesn't speak too well for the most powerful man in the world. There may never be any impeachment of Mr. Nixon. We doubt very much that there will be.

But Richard M. Nixon as President of the United States has run his course. He can't be cleared of all of the charges that have been levelled against him, but even if he were he still would have three more years as President that would see him so very, very inefficient.

We have hoped that Richard Nixon, in a flurry of publicity, would step down from the presidency just as did a fellow by the name of Agnew. We do believe Mr. Nixon, with all of his vanity, will step down, but we believe he would serve his country well if he would do so. The Stanberry Headlight.

IS THEY, OR
AIN'T THEY?

The search goes on for ways to have your cake and eat it too, but the success of this eternal quest has hit a snag in the state of Washington. There young people between the ages of 18 and 21 gained the right to become adults legally and acquired, among other things, the privilege of voting when the legislature lowered the age of majority to 18 last year. Now a Superior Court Judge has ruled that 18-to-21 years olds have no right to receive aid to dependent children, and the state's Department of Social and Health Services has dropped 2,200 youth from welfare rolls The state welfare rights organization has brought suit to have these benefits reinstated.

If they need help, it looks like some other aid besides that to dependent children should be given these young people. If they are adults, they can't be children in the eyes of the law. It is difficult to see how they can retain the best of both possible worlds by keeping one foot in each camp.

America is not attacking the root causes of drug abuse, according to Frances Verrinder, editor of the British periodical Drugs and Society. Our State Department's Bureau of Cultural Exchange brought Ms. Verrinder over for six weeks to share ideas with America's drug program personnel.

"I've seen some excellent programs in terms of dealing with people who already have drug problems," Ms. Verrinder observed after her cross-country tour, "but it's like band-aids for broken backs. It's never really thinking about the causal factors which precipitate people into drug abuse."

The British journalist cited housing, unemployment, and personal maladjustments, as examples.

She cited her visits to inner-city drug treatment programs. "The inner- city was tremendously depressing," she commented. "Used car dumps, derelict factories, a filthy canal: I guess all slums must be hell to live in."

Drug projects, in and of themselves, won't do the job, she continued. "Lots of them provide outlets," she said,"but I don't think they can do anything about reorganizing the entire neighborhood."

Asked what she'd do if she had $5 million to spend to attack the drug problem, Ms. Verrinder responded, "I'd try to find a run-down depressed community who wanted to do something and, instead of running a drug program, I'd feed the money into community efforts aimed at personal growth and social reorganization."

"We have to look, basically, at the ways in which societies — the kinds of urban organizations we have — cause problems. We must begin to build into social organizations the necessary personal supports necessary for human growth and fulfilment."

GRASS ROOTS
DEDICATION REQUIRED

Taking a 20- year look into the future, the Federal Power Commission estimates that by 1990, the nation will be using four times as much electricity as it is today. The prediction was based on a six- year study. To keep up with the increase in energy demand, the FPC estimated the electrical industry will have to invest anywhere from $400 billion to $500 billion by 1990. This astronomical sum may have to be far larger if inflation continues. The federal agency also urged the investor- owned electric industry to spend vastly increased amounts on research and development of new power technology.

The latter recommendation raises a host of questions that lie wholly beyond the control of managements of electric companies. Historically, the United States has been a nation in which freedom of inquiry, research and technology along with investments in industrial development were encouraged as matters of principle. For more than a century, unqualified belief and confidence in our capitalistic system guaranteed a steady flow of capital to new enterprises. Great industries, such as electric power, came into being through the creative efforts of private enterprise. A combination of profit incentives and unlimited faith in the United States provided the initiative that could lick any problem. This same combination can master the problems of the future if given an opportunity to do so.

It will take more than the urging of a federal agency to maintain the needed creative momentum. There must be a renewed dedication to the principles of freedom, opportunity and progress that built the nation in the first place. Primarily, this dedication must come from generations of Americans who have been largely riding on the fruits of the system's past achievements.

THE PASSING OF A PATRIOT

The recent death of Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson ended a love affair of 98 years' duration between a good man and his country. Born in the year of the nation's 100th birthday, this durable American lived to within two years of the Republic's 200th anniversary.

T. Whitfield Davidson was unashamedly a patriot, outspokenly so in the recent decades during which patriotism came to be scorned and derided. He resisted stretching the majesty of the law for the expediency of a temporary "social" fad, and he thought that the Constitution meant what it said and not what "reformers" thought it should say.

Born and reared in the South which was still staggering from the iron fist of "Reconstruction," he experienced deprivation early in life and learned a valuable lesson from it: character can mold circumstances. This is a lesson all too often overlooked by modern- day social theorists.

Judge Davidson firmly believed that this Republic's divine destiny was to set an example and provide the inspiration for mankind throughout the world to seek freedom from tyranny.

In his retirement years he frequently returned to the courtroom to preside over naturalization ceremonies during which citizens of other lands became new Americans. Any American, native or naturalized, fortunate enough to hear him explain the privileges and the responsibilities of American citizenship came away with the full knowledge and firm conviction that they had something sacred to maintain. America will be a winner as long as it can beget citizens like T. Whitfield Davidson. HLH

Jaworski's Unfriendlies List?

Special Prosecutor Subpoenas Pro- Nixon Union's Political Action Records, Ignores McGovern

WASHINGTON-- Insiders now believe the Watergate Special Prosecution Force, otherwise known as Leon Jaworski and staff, have an "unfriendlies" list of their own. They now are investigating the Seafarers International Union (SIU) whose president, Paul Hall, was-- and is-- the only powerful labor leader to fight against the AFL- CIO's drive for Dick Nixon's resignation or impeachment.

Hall, an AFL- CIO vice president himself, directs his union's campaign committee, the Seafarers Political Activity Donation (SPAD). And donate it did-- $100,000 to the Committee for the Reelection of the President in 1972.

SPAD's records were subpoenaed and now are being pored over microscopically in the special prosecutor's headquarters.

Hall, who specializes in going eyeball to eyeball and "bellying up" to his enemies, has political clout as strong as his convictions. He's for the President and is on record as ready to back Jerry Ford for President, if and when.

So when he and his colleagues planned their 16th national union convention for November 1973 they invited President Nixon, Vice President Ford, Labor Secretary Pete Brennan (whom labor chief George Meany is attempting to mincemeat) to speak. They agreed. This was a mutual coup. Hall had the President and the President had a friendly audience and a strong, politically influential one at that.

The President spoke Monday Nov. 26. A funny thing happened to him on his way to this forum. There were leaks from the Jaworski force that the Seafarers' SPAD was under investigation for having donated $100,000 back in 1972. Thus virtually all stories covering the Nixon speech contained references to the secret investigation.

Obviously the implication was that the convention was a fixed mutual assistance pact and the donation was suspect or conspiratorially delivered. SPAD's records were subpoenaed during Christmas week. The documents were delivered on Jan. 11.

Reports had it that the $100,000 donation was a payoff for the killing of a previous grand jury indictment of SPAD's and Seafarers' officials on charges of illegally contributing to politica candidates. Actually th government's case was throw out of court by the judge on several grounds. There was no insinuation of corruption. The money was given by check. The records were filed, down to the most minute detail, with the General Accounting Office's federal elections unit.

Furthermore, as of a few days ago, the special prosecutor had not subpoenaed other unions' political action records. There has been no known dragnet of records of unions which threw millions of dollars into the committees for the election of George McGovern.

Fact is, SPAD's donation to the Nixon committee was in gratitude for the administration's heavy ship construction subsidies under the Merchant Marine Act of 1970. These have provided thousands of jobs in shipyards for Hall's followers and will make jobs aboard the new merchant marine ships now under construction.

For example, during Hall's introduction of the President at the convention the morning of Nov. 26, the sailors' leader presented the President with a superb model of an actual tanker, the TT (Turbo Tanker) Brooklyn. This vessel, the largest such craft ever built in the U. S., was made in the reconverted Brooklyn Navy Yard. The construction gave work to some 2,800 SIU members, many of them from the grim nearby ghettos. The TT Brooklyn is on its maiden voyage now with a Seafarers crew.

Further, now under construction in the same yard, giving work to some 3,000 men, are two additional super tankers, the Williamsburg and the Stuyvesant, one to be completed this year, the other in '75.

And, federal money will help built two such behemoth carriers a year.

Thus thousands will be kept employed (and off relief rolls) for years. For that Paul Hall and his union are grateful. For that SPAD contributed $100,000. For that SPAD will contribute lots more. Hall is gung- ho on maritime. It's bread for his followers.

There are many critics of labor's heavy political spending and lobbying. That issue is moot here for the moment. What is significant is the singling out of a union which showed its support for Dick Nixon, Jerry Ford and Pete Brennan. And the failure of the special prosecutor to be evenhanded.

Look at the record. Sen. McGovern bluntly promised the United Auto Workers full support of the White House if he were elected. This was a frank assault on the auto industry in advance of the 1973 negotiations. And the United Auto Workers did contribute heavily to McGovern.

It does seem to appear the Watergate Special Prosecution Force has an "unfriendlies" list all its own.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Aramco Crude

WASHINGTON-- The story behind the leap in oil prices is revealed, at least in part, in the secret corporate papers of the Arabian American Oil Company (ARAMCO).

The new Pike's Peak prices will cost the world's oil consumers billions and jolt the economies of oil- dependent nations.

Aramco is the world's largest oil producer. Its ugly derricks outnumber the palms on the Saudi Arabian desert, which covers an underground sea of petroleum.

Aramco is the world's largest oil producer. Its ugly derricks outnumber the palms on the Saudi Arabian desert, which covers an underground sea of petroleum.

Aramco is a consortium of four of the five largest U. S. oil giants-- Exxon, the biggest; Texaco, second; Mobil, fourth; and Standard of California, fifth.

Over the past three decades, they have earned enormous profits on the crude oil they have pumped out from under the Saudi sands. These profits were boosted into orbit by a secret 1950 Treasury Department ruling, which permitted them to charge off their royalty payments against their U. S. taxes, dollar for dollar.

The write- off, which has been worth hundreds of millions of dollars in tax credits to the Aramco partners, was justified on national security grounds. This special incentive was needed, pleaded Aramco, to preserve the Saudi oil for U. S. defense.

As a measure of the worth of this multimillion- dollar argument, Aramco has cut off all Saudi oil to U. S. armed forces since October 21 at the request of King Faisal. The king, it seems, was offended over U. S. arms shipments to Israel.

Aramco expects to lose its fabulous Saudi oil concessions but would dearly like to put off the dreadful day. The corporate papers predict that King Faisal will take over the oil fields "well before 1980."

In an anxious scramble for new sources of crude, the Aramco partners dusted off plans to reactivate U. S. wells that had been temporarily abandoned.

As long as there was plenty of cheap Saudi oil available, the four partners weren't interested in conducting costly pumping operations in the United States. But the threat of nationalization dramatically changed their outlook.

However, they didn't want to give up the fat profits they had become accustomed to piling up. They decided, therefore, that they needed higher oil prices to pay for reopening the U. S. wells.

Before they closed these wells, they had creamed off the oil that gushes out on its own power. Now they must pump gas or water into the wells to force out the "secondary" oil. They are also studying "tertiary techniques" for extracting oil from the oil sands.

To raise money for all this, the Aramco crowd encouraged Saudi Arabia to raise oil prices. The corporate papers tell of secret meetings with Zaki Yamani, the polished Saudi oil minister. The papers mention six dollars as the price they hoped to set for a barrel of oil.

The Saudis obligingly came through with a price rise in the form of a tax increase, which the Aramco partners could deduct from their U. S. taxes The secret papers contain complex charts, which show their profits increased in proportion to the price rise.

Exxon's profits for the last quarter of 1973 jumped 59 per cent over the final th months of 1972. Mobil reported a 68 per cent increase, Texaco a 70 per cent increase, Standard of California 94 per cent.

The strategy to raise prices worked better than the Aramco partners bargained for. Other oil- producing countries joined in the clamor for higher profits, until the price soared out of bounds.

Alarmed Aramco officials, fearful of worldwide political repercussions, went back to Yamani with a plea to stabilize prices. Although the Aramco partners have benefitted mightily from the high prices, they don't want to press their luck too far and risk government controls.

The corporate papers show that the Aramco brass are preparing for another showdown with Yamani this month. They expect Yamani to call for the "restructuring" of Aramco, giving Saudi Arabia a greater share of the oil production. They believe he will demand an increase from 25 to 51 per cent of the company.

Then Saudi Arabia will wind up controlling Aramco and it will be just a matter of time before the Aramco partners will be left with whatever oil they can squeeze out of their U. S. fields.

FOOTNOTE: Aramco declared that "far from encouraging increased oil prices," it has "worked for reasonable prices." A corporate statement charged that we had failed to substantiate our story and that we couldn't possibly have any "valid evidence" to back it up.

On the contrary, we have given Sen. Frank Church's subcommittee a detailed description of the documents in our possession. We were called behind closed doors, where we testified under oath, read excerpts from the corporate papers and told the s. committee which documen subpoena.

Funds appropriations total $902,399 in MissCo

CHARLESTON — The Mississippi County Court wound up its 1974 appropriations procedure Monday after an open budget hearing which no one from the general public bothered to attend. The appropriations total $902,399 for the three funds administered bythe County Court.

The three funds, and the total appropriated for 1974 in each, are: federal revenue sharing, $377,901; general revenue, $274,498; and road and bridge fund, $250,000 (all figures are rounded off to nearest dollar).

If 1973 expenditures are any indication, the county will not spend nearly all the money appropriated by the court, but, as one official put it, "If you don't appropriate it in January, you can't spend it in October if you need it, even if the money is setting in the bank."

The actual expenditures in 1973 were: federal revenue sharing fund, $278,688; general revenue fund, $142,792; and road and bridge fund, $214,582 — a total of $636,062.

Revenue Sharing

The major new items in the 1974 budget are $100,000 for capital expenditures (equipment and construction) on the new county sanitary landfill north of Commerce, and$80,000 for capital expenditures and operation of the county ambulance service. All this amount is to be paid for from the federal revenue-sharing budget.

Other items in the revenue sharing budget are as follows: Public Safety, $90,777; sheriff, $52,271; prosecuting attorney, $15,131; coroner $500; court reporter, $2,935; court administration, $934; Magistrate and Probate Courts, $5,000;

Circuit clerk and recorder, $8,040; juvenile officer, $5,564; highway engineer, $6,000; Health and Welfare, $25,300; financial administration, $47,871; county clerk, $1,619; treasurer, $7,590; collector, $3,800; Assessor, $14,662; other expenses, $21,000 and emergency fund, $7,592.

General Revenue

In addition to the amounds listed above, to be paid from the revenue- sharing fund, several of the county offices will be operated with money from the general revenue fund. The general revenue expenditures, by office, are as follows: County Court, $16,800; county clerk's office, $24,830; assessor, $3,917; sheriff's office, $20,829; juvenile officer, $7,953; court administration, $8,250; Magistrate Court $1,100; circuit clerk and recorder $19,887; public health and welfare, $20,000; elections, $16,000; Buildings and Grounds, $55,895; Other expenses (extension, Social Security; insurance, retirement, etc.), $43,558; and emergency fund, $35,477.

Road and Bridge

Appropriations from the road and bridge fund total $250,000, broken down as follows: Salaries $85,000; Social Security and retirement $11,364; supplies $57,135; insurance $2,500; materials $40,000; equipment repairs $19,000; and equipment $35,000.

Mrs. W. I. Tibbs of Morehouse and Miss Elsie Smart of New Madrid spent the weekend in Sikeston, the guests of Miss Hyacinth Sheppard.

Moore Greer reports that in their large cotton field, north of Sikeston, on Saturday, cotton was being picked, stalks cut and plowing for the next cotton crop at the same time.

J. N. Sheppard has purchased an electrical floor surfacing machine to resurface and put in order floors that have become worn. With this machine he can make an old floor look almost as good as new. This will come in handy to take paint from floors that they may be given a natural wood finish.

'Coffee drinker' is arrested, spends night in jail as drunk

Dear Ann Landers: Here's more testimony for one of your pet topics: "If you drink -- don't drive." And I want you to know my husband is no drunk. He actually prefers coffee.

Carl was attending a wedding reception. I was unable to be there. He called me about 8:30 p.m. and said he'd be home later. "Later" was the next day.

I waited for him until 2:00 a.m., 3:00 a.m., 4:00 a.m. I was going out of my mind when he called to say, "I'm in jail. I'm not drunk. Don't worry. Goodbye." Before he hung up I coaxed him into putting someone on the line who could give me more information. Sure enough, he WAS in jail.

I went down and paid the $100 bond but was unable to bring Carl home until the next morning. They refused to release him until he was legally sober. It took six hours.

We were advised by our insurance company to get a lawyer. The lawyer is going to charge us ONLY $500 because he has helped us with other matters. (Most lawyers charge from $600 to $1000.) Carl will be lucky if he gets off with a $300 fine.

This state doesn't care whether you're a chronic drinker or not. If they catch you once they throw the book at you, even if it's your first offense. Rotten, isn't it? ——His Wife

Dear Wife: Sorry, but I'm with the state that throws the book. If your husband had killed somebody it wouldn't matter much to that somebody's family whether Carl was a steady boozer or a guy who prefers coffee.

Any person who gets behind the wheel of a car while drunk should be treated as a criminal because he is, in every sense of the word, a potential killer.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to say something to that man who had cards printed up with a long list of ailments. He handed them to people who asked, "How are you?"

I wonder if that fellow also has cards for people whose summer greeting is, "Hot enough for you?" Or in the winter, "Cold enough for you?" On rainy days, "It's nice weather for ducks, isn't it?"

Granted, those trite greetings are corny and unimaginative. So what? This is the way plain, ordinary people reach out to make others feel they are woth talking to.

When I say to a person, "How are you?" I really do care how he is. If he wants to hold me up for ten minutes telling me about his gall bladder, I don't mind. Apparently he needs to tell somebody. I hope that man who had those cards printed didn't go to the expense of a large order. With his sourball attitude, he won't have too many people speaking to him to ask how he is, or anything else. -- Indiana Reader.

Dear Reader: You sound like a person who likes people, and I'll bet people like you. How sad for the sour-balls who fence themselves in. They don't know what they're missing.

Confidential to Mother Of 20-Year- Old Rebel With A Mind Of Her Own: The answer is simple. It's this: "I agree that the decision is yours to make and not mine. You will reap the rewards or suffer from the consequences. Sleep with him if you want to, but not in this house."

Save energy by cooking efficiently

NEW YORK (AP) — How can the American woman help conserve fuel energy these days when preparing a meal?

Experts say the amount of time spent at the range can be reduced, fuel bills lowered and energy saved at the same time.

Chefs at Ogden Foods, a division of the Ogden Corporation, who prepare meals for visitors to stadiums, arenas, race tracks and airports, have developed short cuts that can enhance meals while reducing waste.

There are four factors to consider — utensils, menus, ingredients and motivation. The family budget and advance planning are other factors.

The chefs said proper utensils are essential, such as pans that can be put to multiple uses.

Combine vegetables in a larger pan, rather than having three separate pots boiling away on the stove. Many people overcook food, particularly vegetables, the experts said. Vegetables taste better when firm and are better for us.

Boiled one-container dishes are often less expensive and more healthful, the chefs added. A butt of ham with potatoes, string beans and onions puts all points together.

A cold buffet once a week, or a salad made of leftovers such as cubed meat and cold vegetables can also save time and energy.

Make larger quantities at one time and freeze the remainder for another meal, the experts added.

Bicentennial commemorative plates sold by Women's Clubs

WASHINGTON, D.C. — According to an announcement by Mrs. Kermit V. Haugan, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, every state federation of Women's Clubs throughout America is taking part in the GFWC bicentennial commemorative plate project.

"Clubwomen from nearly every club in the nation are enthusiastically participating in this exciting project which instills pride in our country and rekindles the wondrous 'Spirit of '76' ", said Mrs. Haugan.

The second plate in the series was issued Jan. 1. The plate, with patriotic inscription, depicts Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson in a classic pose as they meet to finalize their draft of the Declaration of Independence.

The first plate, issued in 1973, featured Patrick Henry addressing the Virginia Convention with his ultimate challenge, "Give me liberty or give me death." George Washington praying at Valley Forge will be featured on the third plate to be out in 1975, and the fourth plate (1976) shows the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia.

On July 4, 1976, clubwomen will gather at Independence Hall for a final ceremony when the molds of the plates will be publicly destroyed, thereby creating a limited edition.

Centennial plates issued

The second of a series of four commemorative plates depicts Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson meeting to finalize their draft of the Declaration of Independence. The plates are available from Women's Clubs throughout America.

"This means," says Mrs. Haugan, "that not only will these plates become treasured heirlooms of great personal value, but also they are destined to greatly increase in market value."

"The second commemorative plate," Mrs. Haugan continued, "is available through local Women's Clubs all over the nation.

"The opportunity for Women's Clubs all over America to participate in this patriotic project, pleases me greatly, for the project not only commemorates the principles on which our proud nation was founded, but at the same time allows individual Women's Clubs, state federations and the general federation to all earn funds for our many worthwhile endeavors," she added.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Soiled Beaded Bag Is Reader's Problem

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Last year I bought a white beaded bag which has soiled and am afraid to clean it. I do not know whether the beads are glass or plastic. The cleaners will not take it. The underside of the strap and the zipper opening are white cloth that is dirty so I hope someone can tell me what to do. I would like to use this bag when summer comes. —KAREN

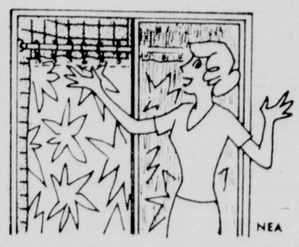

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with supermarkets and shopping centers that have no lavatory facilities for children. The supermarkets are the worst offenders. Often one spends two hours getting to the market and doing the shopping. When a small child is along, he inevitably wants to go to the bathroom before the shopping is finished. —EDNA

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Rita who had antiqued two tables and then waxed them so heavily that they would not buff to a shine but had a streaked look. Sorry, Rita but I think there is only one solution and that is to use paint and varnish remover and then start all over again. Probably what happened is that you waxed the tables too soon after applying the varnish. The solvents in wax will soften varnish that has not had time to dry properly. The wax and varnish mix together and the result is just a mess. Varnish that has dried several days, and to a hard finish, should not be affected in this manner. I always use paste wax instead of spray wax. Next time around let the varnish "age" for several days before applying any wax. Hope this helps as I, too, learned the hard way.—MR. A. H. R.

DEAR POLLY—My serviceman husband is stationed overseas. Often I come upon items he would be interested in, articles of clothing he might need, books or things he forgot to take along, so to make sure I do not misplace or forget them, I have reserved one drawer for the things I want to send him. The kids like this, too, and add special treasures they want to send to Dad.—MRS. S. K.

(Polly's note—This is also a good idea for those with young people away at college.)

DEAR POLLY—I have found a most successful way to keep the trough clean under the sliding glass doors in the shower. They collect dirt and grease and are almost impossible to clean. I bought an expansion rod and a shower curtain and hung them inside the doors so the runoff goes down the curtain and drains into the tub. I used pinking shears to trim the curtain off to the right length and then used the cut off part to line the shelves in the medicine cabinet. I bought a cheap white curtain but a floral pattern would look pretty through the glass doors. No more trying to dig dirt out of these troughs. I think the wives of mechanics would find this especially useful.—MRS. A. R.

THE BLACK ROSE
by Thomas B. Costain
(Avon 17715/$1.50
476pp.)

THE BLACK ROSE, the first in a program of twelve historical novels by Thomas B. Costain to appear in Avon paperback editions, springs from the author's fascination with the thirteenth century. Costain read or consulted over 500 sources to document this story which moves from England just after the Crusades across the globe to the court of Kublai Khan. His hero, a young Englishman and student, leaves Oxford in search of adventure and travels to the Orient; there he falls in love with a woman from a world completely different from his own, and finally, appointed an emissary to the eastern city of Kinsai.

Danforth obtains court order to stop blockades

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth obtained a court order Monday night against blockades at truck stops which, according to the judge who issued it, is being interpreted as having statewide application.

Danforth met until 1 a.m. today with separate groups of truckers at Gasper's Truck Stop on Interstate 70, about 30 miles north of the state capitol, Jefferson City. About 40 drivers in the first meeting were those staging the blockade. The second group of the same number were drivers who wanted to leave.

After Danforth returned to the capitol, some of the trucks were driven off Gasper's lot. Dave Coleman of Warrensburg, Mo., one of those named in the restraining order, said, "At this time we're allowing them to go ahead and leave." He indicated the truckers would be content at this stage to fight the matter in court.

A hearing was set for 9 a.m. Thursday in nearby Fulton.

The blockade at Gasper's was lifted at 2:30 a.m., but Ron Atkinson, assistant manager, reported 75 trucks still were on the lot about 8:30 a.m. They were moving out as fast as he and his men could fuel them five or six at a time.

"We are supplying fuel only to trucks which have been blockaded here and have less than a quarter of a tank of diesel," Atkinson said. "And we are giving them just enough to get back on the road and going again. We are not supplying any fuel to trucks which come in off the highway."

Atkinson said this was in accordance with an agreement reached with striking independent truck operators after the attorney general got his court order against the blockade.

"This was our agreement to cooperate with the drivers to get the blockade lifted," Atkinson said.

One of the problems was getting drivers who wanted to move out from among parked trucks.

Danforth was backed up at the truck stop by some 50 highway patrolmen and Callaway County sheriff's deputies. As he left for Jefferson City, he said, "I want to give them every opportunity to leave peacefully."

After receiving the court order from Callaway County Circuit Judge John Cave, Danforth personally delivered copies to 34 individuals.

Judge Cave said from his home at Fulton he would not interpret the order, but he said Danforth interprets it as applying to truck stops throughout Missouri.

Gene Hamilton, Callaway County prosecuting attorney who accompanied Danforth to the truck stop, said circuit judges elsewhere in the state "will honor" Judge Cave's order because the strike tactics by the truckers constitute "a statewide conspiracy."

One of Danforth's assistants, Harvey Tettlebaum, told newsmen following the first meeting at Gasper's that the truckers "feel they have been gouged, that gasoline prices fluctuate from location to location ... They want immediate relief. They don't have anyone to represent them. .. They're trying to enlist support of public officials."

Some truckers implied they feared for their safety if they left.

As Danforth talked with those who wanted to leave, one of the drivers, Chris Torres, 38, Albuquerque N.M., cried out, "I am just as well as being kidnaped. 'Kidnaped' is a good word for it."

Torres said he was in sympathy with the blockade, but "I've got a sick baby at home."

He said he's been blocked in at Gasper's for three days.

Earlier Monday, numerous firms were successful in having their trucks freed from blockades across the state with local court injunctions.

Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas urged a moratorium on all strike activities. "I fully understand the deep concerns of the trucking industry," Docking said, "but a national truck strike will not resolve the problems of the trucking industry."

He said his state "will not tolerate violence or an infringement on the rights of our Kansas citizens."

The warning followed the first reports of violence in Kansas since the strike assumed epidemic proportions. A rock was thrown through the windshield of a truck on Interstate 70 west of Topeka and the windshield of a gasoline truck was shattered, apparently by a pellet gun, about four miles west of Troy on U.S. 36. There were no injuries in either incident.

First navigation of the Northwest Passage by a single ship was completed by Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen's Gjoa in 1903. His 47-ton ship is on display in San Francisco.

Nixon says health plan will not add to federal taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Describing national health insurance as "an idea whose time has come in America," President Nixon said today the insurance plan he will send Congress this week would offer protection to everyone without adding to federal taxes.

In a statement prepared for an appearance at the convention of the American Hospital Association, Nixon said "there is widespread support in Washington" for some form of comprehensive health insurance.

While arguing his proposal is best, Nixon indicated he would be willing to compromise with Congress on the question.

"Improvements can be made in it, I'm sure," he said with reference to his own plan, "and we stand ready to work with the Congress, the medical profession and others in making those changes."

At the same time, Nixon argued against "an extreme program that would require $80 billion or $100 billion in federal funds and would place the entire health care system under the dominion of social planners in Washington."

"Let us act sensibly and let us act now in 1974," he added.

The President said he would send Congress a package embracing three separate but related insurance plans that would cover every American.

Jaworski, St. Clair to try to resolve dispute over tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House counsel James D. St. Clair and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski will meet later this week to try to resolve a dispute over continued access to presidential tapes and documents, the prosecutor's office announced today.

"This office has received a lengthy communication from White House counsel which will require clarification and further discussion between Mr. Jaworski and Mr. St. Clair," a spokesman for Jaworski said.

"We will have no further comment until those discussions are held late this week," he added.

In his State of the Union message last Wednesday night, President Nixon said, "I believe that I have provided all the material that he (Jaworski) needs to conclude his investigations and to proceed to prosecute the guilty and to clear the innocent."

The following day, St. Clair, who recently took charge of the White House team of lawyers working on Watergate, told newsmen he was hopeful he could continue working with Jaworski. "But there has to come an end at some point and we'll just have to consider the circumstances as they hereafter occur," St. Clair said.

In a television interview Sunday, Jaworski took issue with the White House contention that he had received all the material he needs to conclude his investigations.

"To conclude the investigation would mean that it should be concluded with care and with thoroughness," the prosecutor said. "Simply to say that I might have sufficient evidence to indict certain individuals is not enough. That's not the criterion as I see it."

Jaworski also indicated he would not back away from issuing a subpoena to obtain any material he thought was needed.

Such a move could touch off a new confrontation like the one which led to the dismissal by Nixon of Archibald Cox, Jaworski's predecessor as special prosecutor.

The White House is considering a request from Jaworski for additional material despite Nixon's statement last week.

"This matter will be discussed in...confidential conversations and communications" between the offices of the White House counsel and Jaworski, Nixon's Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Monday.

$1.1 million appropriated by Dunklin County Court

KENNETT — A record budget of $1.1 million for Dunklin County has been finalized by the Dunklin County Court, with over half of the monies appropriated for construction of a new county jail, establishment of a county landfill and major renovation of the county courthouse.

A sizeable share of the remaining monies has been appropriated for salaries and supplies to operate the various county offices — including the county's four court systems and offices of the treasurer, county clerk, recorder of deeds, sheriff's department, juvenile officer, circuit clerk, coroner, public administrator and assessor.

A total of $561,220 has been set aside for the three major projects initiated by the County Court, although a breakdown of the monies allotted for each project is being withheld by the court until bids for two of the major projects have been submitted. court officials were skeptical that if exact figures were quoted at this time, persons making bids might use those figures upon which to base their estimates.

Monies allocated to each department, which includes the total funds needed for salaries of the official holding that office plus salaries for office employes and supplies, are as follows:

County Court, $15,020; county clerk's office, $36,531.75; treasurer's office, $5,975; assessor, $6,500; recorder of deeds, $26,938.06; prosecuting attorney's office, $21,527.25; sheriff's office, $94,450; public administrator, $313; coroner, $1,450; juvenile officer, $15,133.80; court reporter, $4,017.50; court administration, $3,345; Magistrate Court, $5,465; circuit clerk's office, $24,840; Probate Court, $29,265; and superintendent of public welfare, $8,500.

Other monies allotted were $23,000 for public health and welfare services, $18,650 for county elections; $31,500 for buildings and upkeep of grounds; and $79,757.95 for "other expenses." In addition a total of $11,200.74 was set aside for the emergency fund, as required by law.

A total of $1,200,030.82 has been estimated as the total resources available for the coming year, which would more than cover the $1,024,610.05 in appropriations leaving an estimated balance as of Dec. 31, 1974 of $175,420.77.

The county began the 1974 year with a total of $611,653.84 on hand, which includes the $392,582.24 received to date as the county's share of federal revenue-sharing funds plus the $219,071.60 in general revenue.

Other resources expected in 1974 are broken down as follows:

Current county taxes, $234,537.98; intangible tax, $8,140; licenses and permits, $3,400; fees and services, $64,750; recoveries and sale of property, $8,700; interest income from the revenue - sharing monies on deposit, $9,820; federal revenue sharing monies to come and reimbursements, $247,529; state grants and reimbursements, $4,400; other grants and reimbursements, $4,000; plus $3,100 estimated from miscellaneous revenue.

The county's only outstanding bond debt is the county hospital bond issue, which was $635,000 as of Dec. 31, 1973, with $35,000 of the bonds retired last year.

Property tax, death penalty to be top legislative issues

JEFFERSON CITY — Now that the special legislative session has passed into history, it's time to take a look at the pitfalls lying in wait for the regular session's next three months.

One of the big priority items is already well along toward passage. That is abolishing the property tax on household goods and wearing apparel, as ordered by the voters.

Both houses have passed their separate versions of such a bill but nothing has been done yet about repaying local governmental units for the revenue they will lose -- about $14 million.

The governor favors levying a new tax or increasing some existing tax to make up the difference, but most legislators are against that approach.

Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, president pro tem of the Senate and sponsor of the Senate bill, says there is plenty of general revenue money to repay the local governments without any new or increased tax.

All the Legislature has to do to accomplish that, he says, is to cut out any new programs and pare down the executive budget accordingly. That would mean discarding the governor's proposal for a $5 million appropriation for maternal and child health care, among other things.

Viewed realistically, there seems little chance the Legislature would enact any new tax during an election year.

Committees in both houses are cranking out bills at a fast pace and the dockets of both houses are piling up. Normally, in a short four- month session that has to quit work on bills April 30, a bill that isn't out of committee by mid- February has little chance to pass.

Restoration of the death penalty is another major issue that can be expected to raise blood pressure in the next three months. A death penalty bill has been approved by a House committee and is awaiting debate there.

Restructuring the juvenile treatment program and revamping the state's criminal code for the first time in more than a century also are important issues to be decided and work has barely started on those.

Some form of no- fault automobile insurance also is in the works but is not very far along and different legislators have different ideas bout this.

Campaign spending and a tougher conflict of interest law did not get passed in the special session but are sure to come in for major attention in the regular session.

Also moving ahead are bills to set up a Missouri Bureau of Investigation, but opinions differ as to whether it should be under the Highway Patrol or a separate agency.

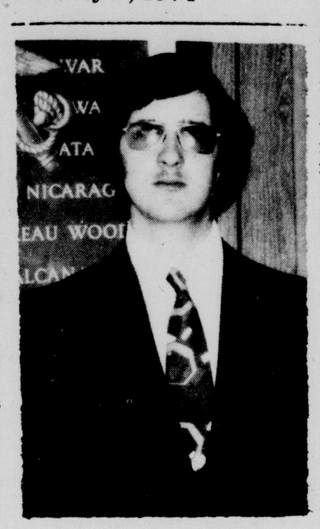

Various plans to provide some form of state aid to private and parochial schools have been introduced but do not seem to be moving very fast.

Bills also are in the works to grant immunity to witnesses in criminal cases, compensate victums of crimes, improve jail standards and expand or change the public defender system.

One bill would do away with county prosecuting attorneys and establish full-time district attorneys serving several counties.

And, of course, governmental reorganization will be with the Legislature in this and all future sessions as the lawmakers tinker with various parts of the state government.

All in all, there's a lot to be done between now and April 30.

MARIE, THE CAPTAIN'S MISTRESS
by Robert Gaillard
(Avon 17475/$.95
190pp.)

The second in Robert Faillard's Marie trilogy, MARIE, THE CAPTAIN'S MISTRESS, finds the beautiful French courtesan trading her favors in return for her husband's freedom. When her husband is imprisoned for mounting an unsuccessful campaign against the cruel government of the Windward Isles, Marie calls upon a ruthless officer and ex- pirate to help her free him; the only reward she can offer in exchange for such daring is her own body -- a bargain she finds very attractive. All three volumes of the Marie series, which was initially published in France and a European bestseller, will be in Avon paperback print with the January publication of the final installment: Marie: Mistress of The Islands.

The John Birch Society was founded in 1958 by Robert Welch. Welch named the society after John M. Birch, a Baptist missionary and World War II U.S. Air Force officer.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

January 28, 1974

Dear Editor:

According to a story from Bonn, Germany, published in the Los Angeles Times on December 14, 1973: "It takes nearly $2 for an international aid organization to do $1 worth of good, according to a report by West German researchers." Thus one- half (1/2) of the billions of dollars we have generously given the United Nations has been wasted on excessive and bloated Administrative costs to pay for their hordes of undertrained inefficient employees.

If we wish to give aid to foreigners in the future, let's do it ourselves instead of wasting more of our tax money on the United Nations which is famous for its boondoggles.

The United States can do a fine job on aid as proved by the Hoover Commission -- it saved millions of Russian people from starvation after World War I.

The United States, and not the United Nations, is the world's best hope to help the world.

Sincerely,
C.C. Moseley,

A SURPRISED COACH

DETROIT (AP) — When 23-year Detroit hockey veteran Alex Delvecchio was called into the office to be told he would coach the Red Wings at first he thought he was going to be traded. "But when general manager Ned Harkness asked me to take over as coach," says Delvecchio, "I guess the surprise showed on my face."

Delvecchio admits the Red Wings will have to dig themselves out of a big hole. He took over the team when it had won only two of 12 games, one of which was a tie.

Sikeston erased that advantage in the third quarter and took a one point, 28-27, lead going into the final

Cold shooting set in and the Mules outscored the Bulldogs 9-4 for the win.

Paul Bean paced the B teamers with 12 points. Roberts hit nine for Poplar Bluff.

In the A team action the Mules had the hot hand in the first half as Poplar Bluff took a 28-20 halftime lead.

Sikeston used a 1-3-1 zone defense in the second half and roared back to within two points of the lead at 34-32 with the final period to play.

The Bulldogs outscored the Mules 15-14 in the final period as Poplar Bluff hit the offensive boards for six shots before dropping in the winning bucket with five seconds left on the clock.

Post man Alonzo Harris hit 18 for the Bulldogs and Fritts scored 13 to lead the Mules. Sikeston is 6-7 for the year.

Hayti collars Bulldogs, 72-32

CARUTHERSVILLE — The Annual Bootheel conference tournament tipped off here Monday night with two favored teams living up to expectations as fourth seeded Cooter edged fifth seeded Caruthersville 55-51 in the B team bracket and number four seeded Hayti swamped South Pemiscot, seeded fifth, 72-32 in the varsity contest.

The Tigers of CHS blew a four point lead in the last period to come away with the loss. The Tigers led 12-8 after the first period but Cooter came out shooting in the second period with John Phillips hitting the bucket and outscored the Tigers 18-12 to take a precarious 26-24 halftime lead.

CHS found the range in the third period and erased the two point lead and gained back their initial four point advantage going into the final quarter.

Cooter stormed out in the last period and overwhelmed the Tigers 17-9 to take the victory and keep their hopes alive.

Phillips was the high man for Cooter with 24 points and Gerome Wilson hit 18 to lead the Tigers.

Hayti jumped out in from 20-10 in the first period and never let up against the SPHS Bulldogs. The Bulldogs had trouble hitting the bucket all night and scored only two points in the fourth period.

Harrison's predictions

After getting a few right and a few wrong last week I'll try again for that perfect night. As the season progresses some teams begin to jell and others begin to fall off after a good first of the season showing.

There are some tough games to predict this week as a few of the matchups are very evenly matched.

Neelyville at Puxico --- This should be a very good game. The Indians have the home court advantage and are a rugged bunch. Neelyville has been rated in the Daily Standard top three all year but will be severely tested in this game. I will have to pick the Tigers but not by very much and I won't be surprised if it is reversed. NHS 71 PHS 69.

Matthews at East Prairie --- The Pirates have had their troubles of late and the Eagles are a good team so I am going to pick EPHS by three - - 75-72.

Sikeston at Perryville -- I am going to go with the home town boys in this one - - Bulldogs -- 65- Perryville -- 61.

Chaffee at Oran --- The Eagles are faster than the Red Devils and should have an easy win here ---76-66.

Richland at Dexter --- These two Stoddard County foes alwasy put on an interesting show. I'll have to go with the Bearcats in this one but it'll be low scoring --- 67-60.

Kelly at Oak Ridge -- The Hawks are warming up for the regional at Richland and should take the Jays - - 75-66.

Illmo - Scott City at Lilbourn --- I'm sure the Panthers are waiting to get even the with the Mustangs of North Pemiscot in the regional at Senath later but should have little trouble with the IS-C Rams - - 77-65.

Doniphan at Twin Rivers - - The Dons play good ball and I don't know much about the Royals so I'll go with the Dons --- 68-65.

Gideon at Bernie --- The Mules have Ruben White and Joe Stuever and that's about all. Gideon has a more balanced attack so my pick will be the Bulldogs -- 76-60.

Meadow Heights at College High --- The Panthers are too tall for the Preps --- 72-55.

Poplar Bluff at New Madrid -- The Indians play a tough man to man defense and should give the tall Mules fits. I'll take the Indians --- 65-60.

NEW COSMOS CHANGES COLOR

Cosmos Diablo, a 1974 All-America winner, undergoes a remarkable color change. The flowers are orange on the first day, then deepen to fiery-red.

New colors in flowers are always exciting to grow, particularly when the flower is easy to grow in all parts of the country. Cosmos Diablo, one of the six new All-America award winners for 1974, has all these qualities and more.

The flower color is unique—a deep reddish-orange, and a more desirable color for home gardens than any previous cosmos. The flowers are semi-double, measuring up to 2 in. across, and possess an unusual color-changing characteristic. The flowers open a bright orange, then deepen to fiery red after the first day.

Diablo has an upright branching habit with attractive, feathery green foliage. It has good weather tolerance, pest resistance, and it thrives in a wide range of soil conditions — even poor soil.

For best results seed of Diablo should be sown directly into the garden after danger of frost. The plants make rapid growth and soon cover themselves in hundreds of fiery-red blooms from July until frost, creating a striking effect when planted in a flower border or between shrubs.

BEDTIME or boredom? Whatever it is, "Keno," a cub at the St. Augustine, Fla., Aquatarium, opens wide enough to delight a jungle dentist.

Chief warns against burning

Sikeston Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer issued a warning against burning of any sort today. High winds and dry conditions currently present a danger of spreading any trash fires into grass fires and possibly to buildings, he said.

Water treatment plant to be in operation soon

EAST PRAIRIE — The city's new water treatment plant on Cutliph Avenue will be put into operation as soon as the recently completed water tank on Walnut Street is filled and sterilized, City Manager Bob Kakac said today.

The process of filling and sterilizing the tank began Monday and should be completed today.

When the automatic treatment plant is in operation, approximately 1,176,000 gallons of water will be filtered each day. Ray Howlett and Darriel Williams, city water department employes, are being trained to operate the plant.

Universal Tank Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, erected the water tank and Bridger Plumbing and Heating Co. of Sikeston was prime contractor for the treatment plant.

Kakac said residents will find they still have dirt and scale built up in their water lines and may not be able to see a great difference in their water pressure right away. If this continues, they may call city hall and a city crew will check out the problem, Kakac said.

Arnold to be legal advisor

BENTON — The City Council voted Monday night to hire attorney Tom Arnold as the city's legal advisor.

Arnold had previously served as city attorney, but decided not to continue in that position.

Paul Davidson of Illmo discussed fire equipment, and the council considered a proposal to establish a volunteer fire department.

Police to begin sticker check

Sikeston Police Chief Leon Culp announced today that the police department will begin checking cars for 1974 city license stickers the latter part of this week.

Motorists who live within the city limits of Sikeston should purchase the stickers at the city collector's office in the City Administrative Building.

Council plans for new city ambulance service

PORTAGEVILLE — The City Council Monday night made tentative plans for the operation of the city's ambulance service which will soon be in effect.

Mayor Barry Richardson said today the ambulance has arrived and will be in operation within a week or two.

The boundaries of the area of operation are Highway 60 on the north; floodway ditches on the west; Mississippi River on the east and Routes T and VV on the south.

The fee schedule will be $45 for a trip to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston and $35 to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti. Fee for service in the city limits of Portageville is $15.

The service will be manned by the volunteer fire department and emergency crew. The procedure will be to phone the Portageville police department, 379-5500, and police will contact the ambulance drivers.

Richardson said future service may be extended to hospitals in Cape Girardeau, Poplar Bluff and Memphis, Tenn.

Court purchases compactor

BENTON— The Scott County Court announced Monday that it has purchased a used front- end loader and compactor for use in operation of the county sanitary landfill. The court purchased the machine for $35,000 from Missouri-Illinois Tractor Co. of Cape Girardeau.

MIT had previously submitted a bid to the court of $55,439 for a new piece of equipment and $40,500 for the used front- end loader. However, the court reached an agreement with MIT to purchase the used model for the smaller amount.

Other bids were received from Hennessey Forrestal Machinery Co. of St. Louis, $53,412 for a new piece of equipment; Fabick Bros. Equipment Co. of Sikeston, $60,900 for a new compactor and $32,397 for a used compactor.

3 women injured in accident

Three women were injured in a two- car accident about 9 p.m. Monday at the intersection of Greer and Elm streets.

Treated and released at Missouri Delta Community Hospital were the driver of one of the cars, Marie Jameson, 70, of 806 Ruth St., for bruises and scratches to the right knee; Martha Larson, 62, of 113 E. Gladys St., scratches and bruises to the right leg; and Josephine Schwab, 79, of 631 E. Kathleen, fractured right leg.

Police said the accident occurred when Mrs. Jameson, southbound on Elm, pulled her car into the intersection after stopping for the yield sign. She said she did not see a car driven by Amon Benson Ashcraft, 28, of 230 E. Kathleen Ave. coming east on Greer.

Ashcraft was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Madrid told to prepare flood fighting equipment

NEW MADRID — The City Council Monday night discussed flood control, street lighting and heard citizen complaints.

A telegram dated Jan. 22 from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers was read which stated that the city is in an area designated as phase one by the corps for flood control. Phase one means that the city is to make ready its own floodfighting equipment and be prepared for possible flooding.

In his report to the council on units to power the city auxiliary pumps, City Administrator Don Lloyd said that electric units could be purchased at a cost of $2,800 per unit, but no immediate delivery date could be promised.

He also said he had checked on availability of local tractors for pumping and had been told several are available, including a promise by Twitty Farm Equipment Co. of Lilbourn that the city could use as many units as it might need.

A request by William Mann was denied for reimbursement of expenses incurred during last year's flood, when he had to change the water discharge pipe of an air conditioner in his business building on Main Street from discharging into the sanitary sewer system.

Also denied was the request by Mrs. A. B. Moore for $500 for damages to shrubbery along the east side of her property on Crisler Street, alleged to have occurred when the city installed a water line.

In checking the possibility of installing sodium vapor street lighting on Main Street, Lloyd said he had been advised that the existing mercury vapor lights could be improved by installing new bulbs with double the lighting capacity, and the council agreed to install new bulbs.

In other matters, the council accepted an invitation from the Business and Professional Women's Club to attend its charter presentation dinner Feb. 18.

The council approved power plant construction payments totaling $150,247.26 for the city's 600- megawatt, steam, generating station located in St. Jude Industrial Park.

Following adjournment, the council went into secret session.

School bus collision injures 32 children

BELL CITY— Two Bell City school buses collided on a gravel county road one mile east of Johnson Grocery on Route Y at 8:35 a.m. today, sending 32 youngsters to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Six of the children were admitted to the hospital for further treatment, but the other 26 were released after emergency treatment. A hospital spokesman said none of the injuries were considered serious and that some of the students admitted to the hospital suffered broken bones and one had a mild concussion.

According to the highway patrol the buses collided at the intersection of Routes Y and DD when an eastbound bus driven by Carl Jacob Driskell of Bell City and a northbound bus driven by Spencer Bird of Bell City entered the unmarked intersection at the same time. Both buses then ran off the road and one overturned. Neither driver required medical attention.

The hospital spokesman said all of the children who received hospital treatment were elementary school pupils.

The students who received treatment include:

Juanita Poyner, Jamie Harris, Bruce Robinson, Gary Walker, Mae Audrey Johnson, Barry Griffin, Marilyn Walker, Michael Meekie, Rhonda Johnson, Richard Walker, Jerry Pettis, Michael Griffin, Sherry Pullen, Patricia Taylor and David Patterson.

The names of the six students admitted for further treatment were not available.

32 children hurt in bus accident

Thirty- two children from the Bell City school system were injured early today when the drivers of two school buses both failed to stop at a rural crossroads. After the collision, both vehicles went off the road into a field (top photo) where one overturned. The interior of the overturned bus (left photo) shows school books and personal items scattered by the accident. Neither driver was treated for injuries. (Daily Standard photo by Tim Ludwig)

Land annexation may be ready for April election

With the chances believed good for a land annexation proposal to be included on the April 2 city election ballot, the City Council Monday night decided to add 168 acres to the annexation proposal.

The land is owned by Lula Bell, William Moore and Burt Rowe Jr., and is located north of Hart's cemetery on North Ingram Road.

City Attorney Manuel Drumm told the council a ruling on the annexation proposal could clear the Circuit Court in two weeks. He said he expects the proposal to be ready for voter approval in time for the April 2 election.

Land previously approved by the council includes 1,545 acres north of the Jaycee Bootheel Rodeo grounds, a 1,000- foot strip of land along Keystone Drive and the LaValle property south of the city along Highway 60.

Mayor Frank Ferrell said the city will receive $48,000 from Associated Natural Gas Co. as its franchise fee this year. The figure amounts to five per cent of the company's expected receipts in the city. Payments will be made at $4,000 per month.

The council reinstated a liquor license owned by Aaron Marble, 108 Alabama St., after it had been revoked for non- use.

The council recently decided that unused licenses were to be revoked because they constituted an abuse of the licensing system. A city ordinance permits one license to be issued for every 1,250 residents of the city.

Marble said he had been forced to close his grocery and package liquor store in 1968 because of poor health, and only now has been able to consider reopening his store.

The council gave him until July 1, the license renewal date to reopen his store.

The possibility of establishing a Human Resources Commission with city funds was raised by Ferrell, who said he has been approached by people in town seeking funds for human resource programs.

The council did not seem too interested in such a program because of a lack of city funds.

The council approved the rezoning of the north side of Lee Street, between Jaycee and Lions streets, from single- family to two- family dwellings.

The council approved a license to sell 3.2 per cent beer at Pasquale's Pizza in Midtowner Village Shopping Center.

Morehouse preparing to assist manufacturing plant expansion

MOREHOUSE-- The City Council is laying the foundation for assisting a proposed expansion of Himmelberger- Harrison Manufacturing Co., a subsidiary of Rowe Furniture Corp.

Rowe officials have indicated an interest in an addition to its present facility, but that no action will be taken for about a year. A bond issue will then have to be passed, and Mayor Marlin Swinger stated at Monday night's council meeting that construction would probably begin in 1976.

In the meantime, the council is making preliminary plans.

Three Missouri Utilities officials— Clyde Wilson of Cape Girardeau, vice president; Bill Likens of Cape Girardeau, manager of electrical engineering; and Morris French of Sikeston, district manager— met with the council Monday night to answer a question from Rowe officials about the kind of power sources that will be available when the company is ready to build.

Wilson told the council Missouri Utilities plans to upgrade the area by the summer of 1975 by placing a new power line from Sikeston to Morehouse.

He also said a 161 kilovolt bulk substation is being built in the Miner area and that by the latter part of the year, another substation will be built near Essex, placing Morehouse almost directly between two bulk high voltage stations.

Tentative plans have been made to install a line from Essex to Morehouse. However, Wilson said there is no money in the utility firm's budget for the extension at the present time.

Swinger told Wilson the answer was "what we wanted to hear." City Attorney Joe Fuchs was instructed to inform the attorney for the Rowe firm about the findings.

Swinger told the aldermen that pipes at the water plant have been cleaned and that the present valves will be repaired until new ones arrive in approximately six months.

In a special council session on Jan. 30, Tom Gleason, manager of See-Mor Cable TV, told the council the company will charge its customers at a rate of $5 a month, effective Jan. 1.

Councilmen told Gleason at the January meeting that customers were being charged $6 a month, which was not in accordance with an ordinance that Morehouse customers would not be charged a rate higher than that charged in Sikeston. Sikeston's rates are $5 a month.

The council agreed to lower the franchise fee to the company from five per cent to three per cent in compliance with a Federal Communications Commission ruling.

Aldermen told Gleason that when the company adds three proposed additional channels, another ordinance will have to be passed.

Dexter issues final Arvin bonds

DEXTER — The City Council Monday night passed an ordinance to issue the final $2 million of $9 million worth of industrial revenue bonds for construction of the Arvin Industries plant. The new 300,000 square- foot plant on Fram Road is nearing completion and production is expected to begin this month.

Arvin Industries manufactures over 3,000 different automobile parts and will employ 400 persons when the Dexter plant reaches full operation.

A second ordinance was passed declaring the results of the special election held Jan. 22 and authorizing the issuance of $600,000 worth of industrial bonds for expansion of the Frame Corp. plant. The 100,000 square- foot expansion will be used for production and warehousing and will permit employment of 70 additional workers.

Mayor Willis Conner announced that Barney Miller has been appointed chairman of the board of zoning adjustments. Other board members include Ben Cowan Jr., Bob Taylor, Terry Haws and Rae Sisler.

After a report by Fire Chief Al Banken regarding the purchase of a used ladder truck for the fire department, the council voted against purchasing the truck by a 5-1 margin.

Conner said he would like to see the city have the truck but that the budget could not stand the expense at the present time. The truck would cost $18,750 delivered to Dexter.

City Attorney Paul McGhee asked the council to name judges and clerks for the April 2 general election at the council's Feb. 18 meeting. The filing deadline for candidates seeking office in the election is March 19.

Residents of Water District No.1, who live outside the southwest city limits, will not be allowed to hook onto city water lines. The decision was made after a report from the committee appointed to study the matter.

Conner read a letter from the Missouri State Highway Department stating that the department would remove the flashing lights located at Catalpa Street and Highway 114 the week of Feb. 11. The department stated that the light which was erected in 1957, no longer serves any purpose.

However, the council disagreed with the letter as to the usefulness of the light

Marshall to run for county collector

Tom Marshall

Tom Marshall announces that he is a candidate for re-election for the office of Scott County collector on the Democratic ballot in the Aug. 6 primary election.

In 1970 Marshall was appointed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes to fill the unexpired term of Aubrey Michael and was successfully elected to his first full term.

Marshall, 43, is a native of Scott County, raised in Blodgett and is the son of Mrs. Ben F. Marshall Jr. and the late Mr. Marshall. He is married to the former Phyllis Garner and they have three sons, Jim, Mike and Bob. The Marshalls live on the family farm two miles north of Sikeston.

Marshall is a graduate of St. Henry's High School in Charleston and attended the University of Missouri where he was a member of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity.

He served in the Army during the Korean conflict and, after being honorably discharged, returned to his farming partnership with his brother Ben F. Marshall III of Blodgett.

In 1958 he was elected to serve as a member of the Scott County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee. In October 1964, Marshall became office manager of the county ASC office in Benton. On April 10, 1966, he was appointed by the Missouri State ASC Committee as fieldman for a nine- county area, a position he held until his resignation Oct. 10, 1969.

Marshall is a member of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church in Sikeston, Sikeston Council of the Knights of Columbus, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus in Cape Girardeau, Sikeston Exchange Club, American Legion Post 114, Elks Lodge No. 2319, Missouri State Democratic Club and an associate member of the Scott County Young Democrats.

Marshall pledges to continue to give full and undivided attention to the duties and the responsibilities of the collector's office and says he will serve the people of Scott County faithfully to the best of his ability.

Saturday was Guard Day

Saturday was celebrated by Company C of the 1140th Engineering Battalion as National Guard Day in Sikeston. The day was not too different from other guard meetings for these guardsmen who are routinely checking heavy equipment used by the local company. From left are Pfc Gary A. McKown, Spec. 4 Tony Stricklin and Spec. 4 Tevis Noles. The day also kicked off Operation Fill-Up, a statewide program of intensive recruiting to run through Feb. 17. Men interested in joining the National Guard may contact recruiters at the armory on South Main Street.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If everything came easy, there would be no satisfaction in making an effort.

* * *

They don't give medals for being dependable, but maybe they should. People you can bank on, day- in and day-out, are a rare and wonderful breed.

Have you ever stopped to count up the people you really value in this life - people who are really important to you?

Think it over and you'll find that they are the people you can depend on, people who will stick with you through thick and thin. Your parents, your wife or husband, the friend who listens to your troubles, the pal who would give you the shirt off his back -- they're always there when you need them. That's why they mean so much to you. Fair weather friends are a dime a dozen.

Being dependable makes you the kind of friend people respect and cherish. It makes you a tremendously more valuable employe. Every company needs people are are dependable, people who:

--are on the job every day,

--finish what they start,

--don't need to be supervised every minute,

--will work extra time, if need be, to help the company make good its promises to customers.

A dependable person doesn't need to advertise the fact -- it's visible in everything he does and soon becomes common knowledge to everyone he comes in contact with. Likewise, an undependable person can't hide, disguise, or cover-up his shortcomings no matter how hard he tries.

No business, government, or other organization can last for long without dependable people. Just as you rely on your company for steady work and a regular pay check, your employer banks on you to hold up your part of the bargain. A fair- minded employe gives his company the same kind of dependable performance that he expects from the company in return.

THE RIGHT TO LIVE

The Supreme Court, in a new decision, has held that rules forcing female school teachers to quit their jobs midway through pregnancies "unduly penalize a female teacher for deciding to bear a child."

While not taking issue with the high court's ruling, we believe it sets in even bolder relief the wrongness of the same court's abortion rulings last year. Those rulings held, in effect, that a pregnant woman has a legal right to destroy the life of her unborn child at any time prior to birth.

Despite the Supreme Court's show of concern for the welfare of pregnant women and utter lack of concern for the welfare of their unborn children, we continue to believe that the God - given and constitutional right to life should not be abridged because of the age — or lack of age — of the persons involved.

The familiar argument that the fetus is part of the mother and thus should be hers alone to deal with is fallacious. Dr. A. W. Liley of New Zealand, an internationally recognized authority in fetology, has written that, "biologically, at no stage can we subscribe to the view that the fetus is a mere appendage of the mother.Genetically,mother and baby are separate individuals from conception.

Senator James Buckley of New York has introduced a constitutional amendment counteracting the Supreme Court rulings (in Roe against Wade and Doe against Bolton) and guaranteeing to "all human beings, including their unborn offspring at every stage of their biological development" equal protection under the constitution. Senator Buckley's amendment would not apply, however, in an emergency when a reasonable medical certainty exists that continuation of the pregnancy will cause the death of the mother. This stipulation is vital.

To become law, the Buckley amendment will first have to be approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress as well as three-fourths of the 50 States. We believe that, however dim the prospects for approval of the amendment, the importance of the issue is well worth the struggle.

Life is sacred at every stage. No court and no person should be given the right to willfully decide who shall die and who shall live. God alone has the right to make those decisions.

SCHOOL CLOSINGS
JUSTIFIED

Now and then someone criticizes the schools for closing when the weather worsens and traveling is dangerous and difficult.

In doing so, some of the older ones recall that they "went to school in all kinds of weather" - regardless of how bad it may have been - and that their schools never closed because of the weather.

What they forget is tha times have changed.

When the editor and a lo of others were younger, there were no buses, districts were smaller and no buses were needed. Children could walk to their school without too much exposure and little if any danger.

Last year in Missouri more than 640,000 students rode 7,930 school buses, and they were mostly too far from their school to walk.

When the buses can't run, neither can the school. Rather than take a chance on the lives of the bus-riding children and the drivers, there is nothing a school administrator can do but dismiss classes when traveling gets too rough.

Without buses the schools can't operate because they'd have few pupils.

FURTHER LOSS
OF FAITH

In the House and Senate at Washington and across the nation, President Nixon last week further lost the confidence of the people when technical experts reported to Judge John Sirica that the 18-minute gap in the crucial White House tapes was not and could not have been accidental.

This exploded the story of Presidential Secretary Rosemary Woods that she probably damaged the tapes by accidentally pushing a button that erased or garbled the messages that were originally on them.

The experts swore that the tapes had been re-run at least five times, and probably more.

Their undisputed testimony now leaves President Nixon, Rosemary Woods and any others that may have had access to the tapes far out on a limb, and with no ladder.

It confirmed the suspicion of most people that the conversation between President Nixon and H. R. Haldeman three days after Watergate, was damaging to the President and his claims he new nothing about the Watergate coverup, and that the record was deliberately erased and garbled.

In addition to this, it irritated most people to think that either the President or his helpers thought the public and the experts were so dumb they'd never be able to discover the truth about what had happened.

The incident will now be complete if Judge Sirica or a grand jury can find out "whodunit".

HOME TOWN PAPER
CHALLENGES
VICE PRESIDENT

It was an odd bit of information, but television one night recently announced that Vice President Gerald Ford's home town newspaper had "taken after him" over his continued and loud support of President Nixon.

Many persons have wondered just what Mr. Ford hopes to gain by his continuous rallies for Mr. Nixon. It is quite true that Mr. Ford owes his office to Mr. Nixon, but he also must be aware of the fact that because he was a Nixon supporter is the very reason that he is Vice President today.

It seems so odd to us that these prominent Republicans still seek to cover up for Mr. Nixon. Surely none of them can approve what Richard Nixon and his cohorts have done in recent months. If they do approve of all that has taken place, not one of them is fit to hold office.

You can't fool the American public too long and too far. The fact that the latest report shows that Richard Nixon's standing in the nation is only 27 per cent should let most of the big-wigs know that Mr. Nixon is not the most popular man in the United States.

Today he stands at his lowest ebb, probably in his entire political career. That doesn't speak too well for the most powerful man in the world. There may never be any impeachment of Mr. Nixon. We doubt very much that there will be.

But Richard M. Nixon as President of the United States has run his course. He can't be cleared of all of the charges that have been levelled against him, but even if he were he still would have three more years as President that would see him so very, very inefficient.

We have hoped that Richard Nixon, in a flurry of publicity, would step down from the presidency just as did a fellow by the name of Agnew. We do believe Mr. Nixon, with all of his vanity, will step down, but we believe he would serve his country well if he would do so. The Stanberry Headlight.

IS THEY, OR
AIN'T THEY?

The search goes on for ways to have your cake and eat it too, but the success of this eternal quest has hit a snag in the state of Washington. There young people between the ages of 18 and 21 gained the right to become adults legally and acquired, among other things, the privilege of voting when the legislature lowered the age of majority to 18 last year. Now a Superior Court Judge has ruled that 18-to-21 years olds have no right to receive aid to dependent children, and the state's Department of Social and Health Services has dropped 2,200 youth from welfare rolls The state welfare rights organization has brought suit to have these benefits reinstated.

If they need help, it looks like some other aid besides that to dependent children should be given these young people. If they are adults, they can't be children in the eyes of the law. It is difficult to see how they can retain the best of both possible worlds by keeping one foot in each camp.

America is not attacking the root causes of drug abuse, according to Frances Verrinder, editor of the British periodical Drugs and Society. Our State Department's Bureau of Cultural Exchange brought Ms. Verrinder over for six weeks to share ideas with America's drug program personnel.

"I've seen some excellent programs in terms of dealing with people who already have drug problems," Ms. Verrinder observed after her cross-country tour, "but it's like band-aids for broken backs. It's never really thinking about the causal factors which precipitate people into drug abuse."

The British journalist cited housing, unemployment, and personal maladjustments, as examples.

She cited her visits to inner-city drug treatment programs. "The inner- city was tremendously depressing," she commented. "Used car dumps, derelict factories, a filthy canal: I guess all slums must be hell to live in."

Drug projects, in and of themselves, won't do the job, she continued. "Lots of them provide outlets," she said,"but I don't think they can do anything about reorganizing the entire neighborhood."

Asked what she'd do if she had $5 million to spend to attack the drug problem, Ms. Verrinder responded, "I'd try to find a run-down depressed community who wanted to do something and, instead of running a drug program, I'd feed the money into community efforts aimed at personal growth and social reorganization."

"We have to look, basically, at the ways in which societies — the kinds of urban organizations we have — cause problems. We must begin to build into social organizations the necessary personal supports necessary for human growth and fulfilment."

GRASS ROOTS
DEDICATION REQUIRED

Taking a 20- year look into the future, the Federal Power Commission estimates that by 1990, the nation will be using four times as much electricity as it is today. The prediction was based on a six- year study. To keep up with the increase in energy demand, the FPC estimated the electrical industry will have to invest anywhere from $400 billion to $500 billion by 1990. This astronomical sum may have to be far larger if inflation continues. The federal agency also urged the investor- owned electric industry to spend vastly increased amounts on research and development of new power technology.

The latter recommendation raises a host of questions that lie wholly beyond the control of managements of electric companies. Historically, the United States has been a nation in which freedom of inquiry, research and technology along with investments in industrial development were encouraged as matters of principle. For more than a century, unqualified belief and confidence in our capitalistic system guaranteed a steady flow of capital to new enterprises. Great industries, such as electric power, came into being through the creative efforts of private enterprise. A combination of profit incentives and unlimited faith in the United States provided the initiative that could lick any problem. This same combination can master the problems of the future if given an opportunity to do so.

It will take more than the urging of a federal agency to maintain the needed creative momentum. There must be a renewed dedication to the principles of freedom, opportunity and progress that built the nation in the first place. Primarily, this dedication must come from generations of Americans who have been largely riding on the fruits of the system's past achievements.

THE PASSING OF A PATRIOT

The recent death of Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson ended a love affair of 98 years' duration between a good man and his country. Born in the year of the nation's 100th birthday, this durable American lived to within two years of the Republic's 200th anniversary.

T. Whitfield Davidson was unashamedly a patriot, outspokenly so in the recent decades during which patriotism came to be scorned and derided. He resisted stretching the majesty of the law for the expediency of a temporary "social" fad, and he thought that the Constitution meant what it said and not what "reformers" thought it should say.

Born and reared in the South which was still staggering from the iron fist of "Reconstruction," he experienced deprivation early in life and learned a valuable lesson from it: character can mold circumstances. This is a lesson all too often overlooked by modern- day social theorists.

Judge Davidson firmly believed that this Republic's divine destiny was to set an example and provide the inspiration for mankind throughout the world to seek freedom from tyranny.

In his retirement years he frequently returned to the courtroom to preside over naturalization ceremonies during which citizens of other lands became new Americans. Any American, native or naturalized, fortunate enough to hear him explain the privileges and the responsibilities of American citizenship came away with the full knowledge and firm conviction that they had something sacred to maintain. America will be a winner as long as it can beget citizens like T. Whitfield Davidson. HLH

Jaworski's Unfriendlies List?

WASHINGTON-- Insiders now believe the Watergate Special Prosecution Force, otherwise known as Leon Jaworski and staff, have an "unfriendlies" list of their own. They now are investigating the Seafarers International Union (SIU) whose president, Paul Hall, was-- and is-- the only powerful labor leader to fight against the AFL- CIO's drive for Dick Nixon's resignation or impeachment.

Hall, an AFL- CIO vice president himself, directs his union's campaign committee, the Seafarers Political Activity Donation (SPAD). And donate it did-- $100,000 to the Committee for the Reelection of the President in 1972.

SPAD's records were subpoenaed and now are being pored over microscopically in the special prosecutor's headquarters.

Hall, who specializes in going eyeball to eyeball and "bellying up" to his enemies, has political clout as strong as his convictions. He's for the President and is on record as ready to back Jerry Ford for President, if and when.

So when he and his colleagues planned their 16th national union convention for November 1973 they invited President Nixon, Vice President Ford, Labor Secretary Pete Brennan (whom labor chief George Meany is attempting to mincemeat) to speak. They agreed. This was a mutual coup. Hall had the President and the President had a friendly audience and a strong, politically influential one at that.

The President spoke Monday Nov. 26. A funny thing happened to him on his way to this forum. There were leaks from the Jaworski force that the Seafarers' SPAD was under investigation for having donated $100,000 back in 1972. Thus virtually all stories covering the Nixon speech contained references to the secret investigation.

Obviously the implication was that the convention was a fixed mutual assistance pact and the donation was suspect or conspiratorially delivered. SPAD's records were subpoenaed during Christmas week. The documents were delivered on Jan. 11.

Reports had it that the $100,000 donation was a payoff for the killing of a previous grand jury indictment of SPAD's and Seafarers' officials on charges of illegally contributing to politica candidates. Actually th government's case was throw out of court by the judge on several grounds. There was no insinuation of corruption. The money was given by check. The records were filed, down to the most minute detail, with the General Accounting Office's federal elections unit.

Furthermore, as of a few days ago, the special prosecutor had not subpoenaed other unions' political action records. There has been no known dragnet of records of unions which threw millions of dollars into the committees for the election of George McGovern.

Fact is, SPAD's donation to the Nixon committee was in gratitude for the administration's heavy ship construction subsidies under the Merchant Marine Act of 1970. These have provided thousands of jobs in shipyards for Hall's followers and will make jobs aboard the new merchant marine ships now under construction.

For example, during Hall's introduction of the President at the convention the morning of Nov. 26, the sailors' leader presented the President with a superb model of an actual tanker, the TT (Turbo Tanker) Brooklyn. This vessel, the largest such craft ever built in the U. S., was made in the reconverted Brooklyn Navy Yard. The construction gave work to some 2,800 SIU members, many of them from the grim nearby ghettos. The TT Brooklyn is on its maiden voyage now with a Seafarers crew.

Further, now under construction in the same yard, giving work to some 3,000 men, are two additional super tankers, the Williamsburg and the Stuyvesant, one to be completed this year, the other in '75.

And, federal money will help built two such behemoth carriers a year.

Thus thousands will be kept employed (and off relief rolls) for years. For that Paul Hall and his union are grateful. For that SPAD contributed $100,000. For that SPAD will contribute lots more. Hall is gung- ho on maritime. It's bread for his followers.

There are many critics of labor's heavy political spending and lobbying. That issue is moot here for the moment. What is significant is the singling out of a union which showed its support for Dick Nixon, Jerry Ford and Pete Brennan. And the failure of the special prosecutor to be evenhanded.

Look at the record. Sen. McGovern bluntly promised the United Auto Workers full support of the White House if he were elected. This was a frank assault on the auto industry in advance of the 1973 negotiations. And the United Auto Workers did contribute heavily to McGovern.

It does seem to appear the Watergate Special Prosecution Force has an "unfriendlies" list all its own.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Aramco Crude

WASHINGTON-- The story behind the leap in oil prices is revealed, at least in part, in the secret corporate papers of the Arabian American Oil Company (ARAMCO).

The new Pike's Peak prices will cost the world's oil consumers billions and jolt the economies of oil- dependent nations.

Aramco is the world's largest oil producer. Its ugly derricks outnumber the palms on the Saudi Arabian desert, which covers an underground sea of petroleum.

Aramco is the world's largest oil producer. Its ugly derricks outnumber the palms on the Saudi Arabian desert, which covers an underground sea of petroleum.

Aramco is a consortium of four of the five largest U. S. oil giants-- Exxon, the biggest; Texaco, second; Mobil, fourth; and Standard of California, fifth.

Over the past three decades, they have earned enormous profits on the crude oil they have pumped out from under the Saudi sands. These profits were boosted into orbit by a secret 1950 Treasury Department ruling, which permitted them to charge off their royalty payments against their U. S. taxes, dollar for dollar.

The write- off, which has been worth hundreds of millions of dollars in tax credits to the Aramco partners, was justified on national security grounds. This special incentive was needed, pleaded Aramco, to preserve the Saudi oil for U. S. defense.

As a measure of the worth of this multimillion- dollar argument, Aramco has cut off all Saudi oil to U. S. armed forces since October 21 at the request of King Faisal. The king, it seems, was offended over U. S. arms shipments to Israel.

Aramco expects to lose its fabulous Saudi oil concessions but would dearly like to put off the dreadful day. The corporate papers predict that King Faisal will take over the oil fields "well before 1980."

In an anxious scramble for new sources of crude, the Aramco partners dusted off plans to reactivate U. S. wells that had been temporarily abandoned.

As long as there was plenty of cheap Saudi oil available, the four partners weren't interested in conducting costly pumping operations in the United States. But the threat of nationalization dramatically changed their outlook.

However, they didn't want to give up the fat profits they had become accustomed to piling up. They decided, therefore, that they needed higher oil prices to pay for reopening the U. S. wells.

Before they closed these wells, they had creamed off the oil that gushes out on its own power. Now they must pump gas or water into the wells to force out the "secondary" oil. They are also studying "tertiary techniques" for extracting oil from the oil sands.

To raise money for all this, the Aramco crowd encouraged Saudi Arabia to raise oil prices. The corporate papers tell of secret meetings with Zaki Yamani, the polished Saudi oil minister. The papers mention six dollars as the price they hoped to set for a barrel of oil.

The Saudis obligingly came through with a price rise in the form of a tax increase, which the Aramco partners could deduct from their U. S. taxes The secret papers contain complex charts, which show their profits increased in proportion to the price rise.

Exxon's profits for the last quarter of 1973 jumped 59 per cent over the final th months of 1972. Mobil reported a 68 per cent increase, Texaco a 70 per cent increase, Standard of California 94 per cent.

The strategy to raise prices worked better than the Aramco partners bargained for. Other oil- producing countries joined in the clamor for higher profits, until the price soared out of bounds.

Alarmed Aramco officials, fearful of worldwide political repercussions, went back to Yamani with a plea to stabilize prices. Although the Aramco partners have benefitted mightily from the high prices, they don't want to press their luck too far and risk government controls.

The corporate papers show that the Aramco brass are preparing for another showdown with Yamani this month. They expect Yamani to call for the "restructuring" of Aramco, giving Saudi Arabia a greater share of the oil production. They believe he will demand an increase from 25 to 51 per cent of the company.

Then Saudi Arabia will wind up controlling Aramco and it will be just a matter of time before the Aramco partners will be left with whatever oil they can squeeze out of their U. S. fields.

FOOTNOTE: Aramco declared that "far from encouraging increased oil prices," it has "worked for reasonable prices." A corporate statement charged that we had failed to substantiate our story and that we couldn't possibly have any "valid evidence" to back it up.

On the contrary, we have given Sen. Frank Church's subcommittee a detailed description of the documents in our possession. We were called behind closed doors, where we testified under oath, read excerpts from the corporate papers and told the s committee which documen subpoena.

Funds appropriations total $902,399 in MissCo

CHARLESTON — The Mississippi County Court wound up its 1974 appropriations procedure Monday after an open budget hearing which no one from the general public bothered to attend. The appropriations total $902,399 for the three funds administered bythe County Court.

The three funds, and the total appropriated for 1974 in each, are: federal revenue sharing, $377,901; general revenue, $274,498; and road and bridge fund, $250,000 (all figures are rounded off to nearest dollar).

If 1973 expenditures are any indication, the county will not spend nearly all the money appropriated by the court, but, as one official put it, "If you don't appropriate it in January, you can't spend it in October if you need it, even if the money is setting in the bank."

The actual expenditures in 1973 were: federal revenue sharing fund, $278,688; general revenue fund, $142,792; and road and bridge fund, $214,582 — a total of $636,062.

Revenue Sharing

The major new items in the 1974 budget are $100,000 for capital expenditures (equipment and construction) on the new county sanitary landfill north of Commerce, and$80,000 for capital expenditures and operation of the county ambulance service. All this amount is to be paid for from the federal revenue-sharing budget.

Other items in the revenue sharing budget are as follows: Public Safety, $90,777; sheriff, $52,271; prosecuting attorney, $15,131; coroner $500; court reporter, $2,935; court administration, $934; Magistrate and Probate Courts, $5,000;

Circuit clerk and recorder, $8,040; juvenile officer, $5,564; highway engineer, $6,000; Health and Welfare, $25,300; financial administration, $47,871; county clerk, $1,619; treasurer, $7,590; collector, $3,800; Assessor, $14,662; other expenses, $21,000 and emergency fund, $7,592.

General Revenue

In addition to the amounds listed above, to be paid from the revenue- sharing fund, several of the county offices will be operated with money from the general revenue fund. The general revenue expenditures, by office, are as follows: County Court, $16,800; county clerk's office, $24,830; assessor, $3,917; sheriff's office, $20,829; juvenile officer, $7,953; court administration, $8,250; Magistrate Court $1,100; circuit clerk and recorder $19,887; public health and welfare, $20,000; elections, $16,000; Buildings and Grounds, $55,895; Other expenses (extension, Social Security; insurance, retirement, etc.), $43,558; and emergency fund, $35,477.

Road and Bridge

Appropriations from the road and bridge fund total $250,000, broken down as follows: Salaries $85,000; Social Security and retirement $11,364; supplies $57,135; insurance $2,500; materials $40,000; equipment repairs $19,000; and equipment $35,000.

Mrs. W. I. Tibbs of Morehouse and Miss Elsie Smart of New Madrid spent the weekend in Sikeston, the guests of Miss Hyacinth Sheppard.

Moore Greer reports that in their large cotton field, north of Sikeston, on Saturday, cotton was being picked, stalks cut and plowing for the next cotton crop at the same time.

J. N. Sheppard has purchased an electrical floor surfacing machine to resurface and put in order floors that have become worn. With this machine he can make an old floor look almost as good as new. This will come in handy to take paint from floors that they may be given a natural wood finish.

Ann Landers

'Coffee drinker' is arrested, spends night in jail as drunk

Dear Ann Landers: Here's more testimony for one of your pet topics: "If you drink -- don't drive." And I want you to know my husband is no drunk. He actually prefers coffee.

Carl was attending a wedding reception. I was unable to be there. He called me about 8:30 p.m. and said he'd be home later. "Later" was the next day.

I waited for him until 2:00 a.m., 3:00 a.m., 4:00 a.m. I was going out of my mind when he called to say, "I'm in jail. I'm not drunk. Don't worry. Goodbye." Before he hung up I coaxed him into putting someone on the line who could give me more information. Sure enough, he WAS in jail.

I went down and paid the $100 bond but was unable to bring Carl home until the next morning. They refused to release him until he was legally sober. It took six hours.

We were advised by our insurance company to get a lawyer. The lawyer is going to charge us ONLY $500 because he has helped us with other matters. (Most lawyers charge from $600 to $1000.) Carl will be lucky if he gets off with a $300 fine.

This state doesn't care whether you're a chronic drinker or not. If they catch you once they throw the book at you, even if it's your first offense. Rotten, isn't it? ——His Wife

Dear Wife: Sorry, but I'm with the state that throws the book. If your husband had killed somebody it wouldn't matter much to that somebody's family whether Carl was a steady boozer or a guy who prefers coffee.

Any person who gets behind the wheel of a car while drunk should be treated as a criminal because he is, in every sense of the word, a potential killer.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to say something to that man who had cards printed up with a long list of ailments. He handed them to people who asked, "How are you?"

I wonder if that fellow also has cards for people whose summer greeting is, "Hot enough for you?" Or in the winter, "Cold enough for you?" On rainy days, "It's nice weather for ducks, isn't it?"

Granted, those trite greetings are corny and unimaginative. So what? This is the way plain, ordinary people reach out to make others feel they are woth talking to.

When I say to a person, "How are you?" I really do care how he is. If he wants to hold me up for ten minutes telling me about his gall bladder, I don't mind. Apparently he needs to tell somebody. I hope that man who had those cards printed didn't go to the expense of a large order. With his sourball attitude, he won't have too many people speaking to him to ask how he is, or anything else. -- Indiana Reader.

Dear Reader: You sound like a person who likes people, and I'll bet people like you. How sad for the sour-balls who fence themselves in. They don't know what they're missing.

Confidential to Mother Of 20-Year- Old Rebel With A Mind Of Her Own: The answer is simple. It's this: "I agree that the decision is yours to make and not mine. You will reap the rewards or suffer from the consequences. Sleep with him if you want to, but not in this house."

Save energy by cooking efficiently

NEW YORK (AP) — How can the American woman help conserve fuel energy these days when preparing a meal?

Experts say the amount of time spent at the range can be reduced, fuel bills lowered and energy saved at the same time.

Chefs at Ogden Foods, a division of the Ogden Corporation, who prepare meals for visitors to stadiums, arenas, race tracks and airports, have developed short cuts that can enhance meals while reducing waste.

There are four factors to consider — utensils, menus, ingredients and motivation. The family budget and advance planning are other factors.

The chefs said proper utensils are essential, such as pans that can be put to multiple uses.

Combine vegetables in a larger pan, rather than having three separate pots boiling away on the stove. Many people overcook food, particularly vegetables, the experts said. Vegetables taste better when firm and are better for us.

Boiled one-container dishes are often less expensive and more healthful, the chefs added. A butt of ham with potatoes, string beans and onions puts all points together.

A cold buffet once a week, or a salad made of leftovers such as cubed meat and cold vegetables can also save time and energy.

Make larger quantities at one time and freeze the remainder for another meal, the experts added.

Bicentennial commemorative plates sold by Women's Clubs

WASHINGTON, D.C. — According to an announcement by Mrs. Kermit V. Haugan, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, every state federation of Women's Clubs throughout America is taking part in the GFWC bicentennial commemorative plate project.

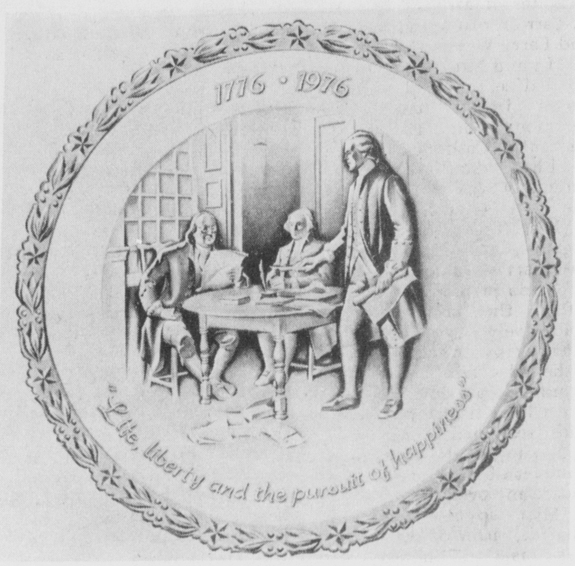

"Clubwomen from nearly every club in the nation are enthusiastically participating in this exciting project which instills pride in our country and rekindles the wondrous 'Spirit of '76' ", said Mrs. Haugan.

The second plate in the series was issued Jan. 1. The plate, with patriotic inscription, depicts Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson in a classic pose as they meet to finalize their draft of the Declaration of independence.

The first plate, issued in 1973, featured Patrick Henry addressing the Virginia Convention with his ultimate challenge, "Give me liberty or give me death." George Washington praying at Valley Forge will be featured on the third plate to be out in 1975, and the fourth plate (1976) shows the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia.

On July 4, 1976, clubwomen will gather at Independence Hall for a final ceremony when the molds of the plates will be publicly destroyed, thereby creating a limited edition.

Centennial plates issued

The second of a series of four commemorative plates depicts Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson meeting to finalize their draft of the Declaration of Independence. The plates are available from Women's Clubs throughout America.

"This means," says Mrs. Haugan, "that not only will these plates become treasured heirlooms of great personal value, but also they are destined to greatly increase in market value."

"The second commemorative plate," Mrs. Haugan continued, "is available through local Women's Clubs all over the nation.

"The opportunity for Women's Clubs all over America to participate in this patriotic project, pleases me greatly, for the project not only commemorates the principles on which our proud nation was founded, but at the same time allows individual Women's Clubs, state federations and the general federation to all earn funds for our many worthwhile endeavors," she added.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Soiled Beaded Bag Is Reader's Problem

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Last year I bought a white beaded bag which has soiled and am afraid to clean it. I do not know whether the beads are glass or plastic. The cleaners will not take it. The underside of the strap and the zipper opening are white cloth that is dirty so I hope someone can tell me what to do. I would like to use this bag when summer comes. —KAREN

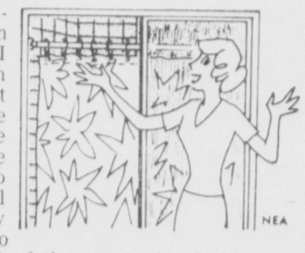

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with supermarkets and shopping centers that have no lavatory facilities for children. The supermarkets are the worst offenders. Often one spends two hours getting to the market and doing the shopping. When a small child is along, he inevitably wants to go to the bathroom before the shopping is finished. —EDNA

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Rita who had antiqued two tables and then waxed them so heavily that they would not buff to a shine but had a streaked look. Sorry, Rita but I think there is only one solution and that is to use paint and varnish remover and then start all over again. Probably what happened is that you waxed the tables too soon after applying the varnish. The solvents in wax will soften varnish that has not had time to dry properly. The wax and varnish mix together and the result is just a mess. Varnish that has dried several days, and to a hard finish, should not be affected in this manner. I always use paste wax instead of spray wax. Next time around let the varnish "age" for several days before applying any wax. Hope this helps as I, too, learned the hard way.—MR. A. H. R.

DEAR POLLY—My serviceman husband is stationed overseas. Often I come upon items he would be interested in, articles of clothing he might need, books or things he forgot to take along, so to make sure I do not misplace or forget them, I have reserved one drawer for the things I want to send him. The kids like this, too, and add special treasures they want to send to Dad.—MRS. S. K.

(Polly's note—This is also a good idea for those with young people away at college.)

DEAR POLLY—I have found a most successful way to keep the trough clean under the sliding glass doors in the shower. They collect dirt and grease and are almost impossible to clean. I bought an expansion rod and a shower curtain and hung them inside the doors so the runoff goes down the curtain and drains into the tub. I used pinking shears to trim the curtain off to the right length and then used the cut off part to line the shelves in the medicine cabinet. I bought a cheap white curtain but a floral pattern would look pretty through the glass doors. No more trying to dig dirt out of these troughs. I think the wives of mechanics would find this especially useful.—MRS. A. R.

Danforth obtains court order to stop blockades

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth obtained a court order Monday night against blockades at truck stops which, according to the judge who issued it, is being interpreted as having statewide application.

Danforth met until 1 a.m. today with separate groups of truckers at Gasper's Truck Stop on Interstate 70, about 30 miles north of the state capitol, Jefferson City. About 40 drivers in the first meeting were those staging the blockade. The second group of the same number were drivers who wanted to leave.

After Danforth returned to the capitol, some of the trucks were driven off Gasper's lot. Dave Coleman of Warrensburg, Mo., one of those named in the restraining order, said, "At this time we're allowing them to go ahead and leave." He indicated the truckers would be content at this stage to fight the matter in court.

A hearing was set for 9 a.m. Thursday in nearby Fulton.

The blockade at Gasper's was lifted at 2:30 a.m., but Ron Atkinson, assistant manager, reported 75 trucks still were on the lot about 8:30 a.m. They were moving out as fast as he and his men could fuel them five or six at a time.

"We are supplying fuel only to trucks which have been blockaded here and have less than a quarter of a tank of diesel," Atkinson said. "And we are giving them just enough to get back on the road and going again. We are not supplying any fuel to trucks which come in off the highway."

Atkinson said this was in accordance with an agreement reached with striking independent truck operators after the attorney general got his court order against the blockade.

"This was our agreement to cooperate with the drivers to get the blockade lifted," Atkinson said.

One of the problems was getting drivers who wanted to move out from among parked trucks.

Danforth was backed up at the truck stop by some 50 highway patrolmen and Callaway County sheriff's deputies. As he left for Jefferson City, he said, "I want to give them every opportunity to leave peacefully."

Judge Cave said from his home at Fulton he would not interpret the order, but he said Danforth interprets it as applying to truck stops throughout Missouri.

Gene Hamilton, Callaway County prosecuting attorney who accompanied Danforth to the truck stop, said circuit judges elsewhere in the state "will honor" Judge Cave's order because the strike tactics by the truckers constitute "a statewide conspiracy."

One of Danforth's assistants, Harvey Tettlebaum, told newsmen following the first meeting at Gasper's that the truckers "feel they have been gouged, that gasoline prices fluctuate from location to location ... They want immediate relief. They don't have anyone to represent them. .. They're trying to enlist support of public officials."

Some truckers implied they feared for their safety if they left.

As Danforth talked with those who wanted to leave, one of the drivers, Chris Torres, 38, Albuququerque N.M., cried out, "I am just as well as being kidnaped. 'Kidnaped' is a good word for it."

Torres said he was in sympathy with the blockade, but "I've got a sick baby at home."

He said he's been blocked in at Gasper's for three days.

Earlier Monday, numerous firms were successful in having their trucks freed from blockades across the state with local court injunctions.

Gov. Robert Docking of Kansas urged a moratorium on all strike activities. "I fully understand the deep concerns of the trucking industry," Docking said, "but a national truck strike will not resolve the problems of the trucking industry."

He said his state "will not tolerate violence or an infringement on the rights of our Kansas citizens."

The warning followed the first reports of violence in Kansas since the strike assumed epidemic proportions. A rock was thrown through the windshield of a truck on Interstate 70 west of Topeka and the windshield of a gasoline truck was shattered, apparently by a pellet gun, about four miles west of Troy on U.S. 36. There were no injuries in either incident.

First navigation of the Northwest Passage by a single ship was completed by Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen's Gjoa in 1903. His 47-ton ship is on display in San Francisco.

Nixon says health plan will not add to federal taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Describing national health insurance as "an idea whose time has come in America," President Nixon said today the insurance plan he will send Congress this week would offer protection to everyone without adding to federal taxes.

In a statement prepared for an appearance at the convention of the American Hospital Association, Nixon said "there is widespread support in Washington" for some form of comprehensive health insurance.

"Improvements can be made in it, I'm sure," he said with reference to his own plan, "and we stand ready to work with the Congress, the medical profession and others in making those changes."

At the same time, Nixon argued against "an extreme program that would require $80 billion or $100 billion in federal funds and would place the entire health care system under the dominion of social planners in Washington."

"Let us act sensibly and let us act now in 1974," he added.

The President said he would send Congress a package embracing three separate but related insurance plans that would cover every American.

Jaworski, St. Clair to try to resolve dispute over tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House counsel James D. St. Clair and special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski will meet later this week to try to resolve a dispute over continued access to presidential tapes and documents, the prosecutor's office announced today.

"This office has received a lengthy communication from White House counsel which will require clarification and further discussion between Mr. Jaworski and Mr. St. Clair," a spokesman for Jaworski said.

"We will have no further comment until those discussions are held late this week," he added.

In his State of the Union message last Wednesday night, President Nixon said, "I believe that I have provided all the material that he (Jaworski) needs to conclude his investigations and to proceed to prosecute the guilty and to clear the innocent."

The following day, St. Clair, who recently took charge of the White House team of lawyers working on Watergate, told newsmen he was hopeful he could continue working with Jaworski. "But there has to come an end at some point and we'll just have to consider the circumstances as they hereafter occur," St. Clair said.

In a television interview Sunday, Jaworski took issue with the White House contention that he had received all the material he needs to conclude his investigations.

"To conclude the investigation would mean that it should be concluded with care and with thoroughness," the prosecutor said. "Simply to say that I might have sufficient evidence to indict certain individuals is not enough. That's not the criterion as I see it."

Jaworski also indicated he would not back away from issuing a subpoena to obtain any material he thought was needed.

Such a move could touch off a new confrontation like the one which led to the dismissal by Nixon of Archibald Cox, Jaworski's predecessor as special prosecutor.

The White House is considering a request from Jaworski for additional material despite Nixon's statement last week.

"This matter will be discussed in...confidential conversations and communications" between the offices of the White House counsel and Jaworski, Nixon's Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Monday.

$1.1 million appropriated by Dunklin County Court

KENNETT — A record budget of $1.1 million for Dunklin County has been finalized by the Dunklin County Court, with over half of the monies appropriated for construction of a new county jail, establishment of a county landfill and major renovation of the county courthouse.

A sizeable share of the remaining monies has been appropriated for salaries and supplies to operate the various county offices — including the county's four court systems and offices of the treasurer, county clerk, recorder of deeds, sheriff's department, juvenile officer, circuit clerk, coroner, public administrator and assessor.

A total of $561,220 has been set aside for the three major projects initiated by the County Court, although a breakdown of the monies allotted for each project is being withheld by the court until bids for two of the major projects have been submitted. court officials were skeptical that if exact figures were quoted at this time, persons making bids might use those figures upon which to base their estimates.

Monies allocated to each department, which includes the total funds needed for salaries of the official holding that office plus salaries for office employes and supplies, are as follows:

County Court, $15,020; county clerk's office, $36,531.75; treasurer's office, $5,975; assessor, $6,500; recorder of deeds, $26,938.06; prosecuting attorney's office, $21,527.25; sheriff's office, $94,450; public administrator, $313; coroner, $1,450; juvenile officer, $15,133.80; court reporter, $4,017.50; court administration, $3,345; Magistrate Court, $5,465; circuit clerk's office, $24,840; Probate Court, $29,265; and superintendent of public welfare, $8,500.

Other monies allotted were $23,000 for public health and welfare services, $18,650 for county elections; $31,500 for buildings and upkeep of grounds; and $79,757.95 for "other expenses." In addition a total of $11,200.74 was set aside for the emergency fund, as required by law.

A total of $1,200,030.82 has been estimated as the total resources available for the coming year, which would more than cover the $1,024,610.05 in appropriations leaving an estimated balance as of Dec. 31, 1974 of $175,420.77.

The county began the 1974 year with a total of $611,653.84 on hand, which includes the $392,582.24 received to date as the county's share of federal revenue-sharing funds plus the $219,071.60 in general revenue.

Other resources expected in 1974 are broken down as follows:

Current county taxes, $234,537.98; intangible tax, $8,140; licenses and permits, $3,400; fees and services, $64,750; recoveries and sale of property, $8,700; interest income from the revenue - sharing monies on deposit, $9,820; federal revenue sharing monies to come and reimbursements, $247,529; state grants and reimbursements, $4,400; other grants and reimbursements, $4,000; plus $3,100 estimated from miscellaneous revenue.

The county's only outstanding bond debt is the county hospital bond issue, which was $635,000 as of Dec. 31, 1973, with $35,000 of the bonds retired last year.

Property tax, death penalty to be top legislative issues

JEFFERSON CITY — Now that the special legislative session has passed into history, it's time to take a look at the pitfalls lying in wait for the regular session's next three months.

One of the big priority items is already well along toward passage. That is abolishing the property tax on household goods and wearing apparel, as ordered by the voters.

Both houses have passed their separate versions of such a bill but nothing has been done yet about repaying local governmental units for the revenue they will lose -- about $14 million.

The governor favors levying a new tax or increasing some existing tax to make up the difference, but most legislators are against that approach.

Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, president pro tem of the Senate and sponsor of the Senate bill, says there is plenty of general revenue money to repay the local governments without any new or increased tax.

All the Legislature has to do to accomplish that, he says, is to cut out any new programs and pare down the executive budget accordingly. That would mean discarding the governor's proposal for a $5 million appropriation for maternal and child health care, among other things.

Viewed realistically, there seems little chance the Legislature would enact any new tax during an election year.

Committees in both houses are cranking out bills at a fast pace and the dockets of both houses are piling up. Normally, in a short four- month session that has to quit work on bills April 30, a bill that isn't out of committee by mid- February has little chance to pass.

Restoration of the death penalty is another major issue that can be expected to raise blood pressure in the next three months. A death penalty bill has been approved by a House committee and is awaiting debate there.

Restructuring the juvenile treatment program and revamping the state's criminal code for the first time in more than a century also are important issues to be decided and work has barely started on those.

Some form of no- fault automobile insurance also is in the works but is not very far along and different legislators have different ideas bout this.

Campaign spending and a tougher conflict of interest law did not get passed in the special session but are sure to come in for major attention in the regular session.

Also moving ahead are bills to set up a Missouri Bureau of Investigation, but opinions differ as to whether it should be under the Highway Patrol or a separate agency.

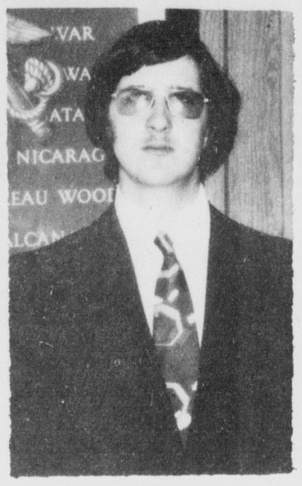

Various plans to provide some form of state aid to private and parochial schools have been introduced but do not seem to be moving very fast.

Bills also are in the works to grant immunity to witnesses in criminal cases, compensate victums of crimes, improve jail standards and expand or change the public defender system.

One bill would do away with county prosecuting attorneys and establish full-time district attorneys serving several counties.

And, of course, governmental reorganization will be with the Legislature in this and all future sessions as the lawmakers tinker with various parts of the state government.

All in all, there's a lot to be done between now and April 30.

The second in Robert Faillard's Marie trilogy, MARIE, THE CAPTAIN'S MISTRESS, finds the beautiful French courtesan trading her favors in return for her husband's freedom. When her husband is imprisoned for mounting an unsuccessful campaign against the cruel government of the Windward Isles, Marie calls upon a ruthless officer and ex- pirate to help her free him; the only reward she can offer in exchange for such daring is her own body -- a bargain she finds very attractive. All three volumes of the Marie series, which was initially published in France and a European bestseller, will be in Avon paperback print with the January publication of the final installment: Marie: Mistress of The Islands.

The John Birch Society was founded in 1958 by Robert Welch. Welch named the society after John M. Birch, a Baptist missionary and World War II U.S. Air Force officer.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

The Kingdom of God is not a matter of words, but of power. (I Corinthians 4:20)
PRAYER: Our Father, we give You thanks for the power You give to us that we receive in faith. It makes us more than conquerors in Jesus' name. Amen.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

January 28, 1974

Dear Editor:

According to a story from Bonn, Germany, published in the Los Angeles Times on December 14, 1973: "It takes nearly $2 for an international aid organization to do $1 worth of good, according to a report by West German researchers." Thus one- half (1/2) of the billions of dollars we have generously given the United Nations has been wasted on excessive and bloated Administrative costs to pay for their hordes of undertrained inefficient employees.

If we wish to give aid to foreigners in the future, let's do it ourselves instead of wasting more of our tax money on the United Nations which is famous for its boondoggles.

The United States can do a fine job on aid as proved by the Hoover Commission -- it saved millions of Russian people from starvation after World War I.

The United States, and not the United Nations, is the world's best hope to help the world.

Sincerely,
C.C. Moseley,

A SURPRISED COACH

DETROIT (AP) — When 23-year Detroit hockey veteran Alex Delvecchio was called into the office to be told he would coach the Red Wings at first he thought he was going to be traded. "But when general manager Ned Harkness asked me to take over as coach," says Delvecchio, "I guess the surprise showed on my face."

Delvecchio admits the Red Wings will have to dig themselves out of a big hole. He took over the team when it had won only two of 12 games, one of which was a tie.

Poplar Bluff scored only two points in the first quarter but warmed up as the game progressed and the Bulldogs cooled off.

Sikeston led 8-2 after the first quarter but the Mules took over in the second period and outscored the Bulldogs 13-6 to lead 15-14 at the half.

Sikeston erased that advantage in the third quarter and took a one point, 28-27, lead going into the final

Cold shooting set in and the Mules outscored the Bulldogs 9-4 for the win.

Paul Bean paced the B teamers with 12 points. Roberts hit nine for Poplar Bluff.

In the A team action the Mules had the hot hand in the first half as Poplar Bluff took a 28-20 halftime lead.

Sikeston used a 1-3-1 zone defense in the second half and roared back to within two points of the lead at 34-32 with the final period to play.

Post man Alonzo Harris hit 18 for the Bulldogs and Fritts scored 13 to lead the Mules. Sikeston is 6-7 for the year.

Camels, Deer win in DCC

CLARKTON--- The Campbell Camels struggled past the Southland Rebels 75- 73 in opening round varsity action of the Dunklin County Tournament here Monday night after Clarkton had rallied from a 43- 33 deficit to eliminate Campbell 55- 49 in junior varsity play.

Tournament action resumes tonight with Southland and Holcomb meeting in the JV game at 6:30 and Senath-Hornersville playing Holcomb at 8 p.m.

Stanley Hays flipped in 22 points to lead the Camels varsity win.

Campbell fell behind 19-12 in the first quarter and trailed 35- 32 at the half before racing to a 27- 20 third quarter advantage for the lead and held off the Rebs fourth quarter charge for the two point decision.

Mike Gibson led a balanced SHS offense with 16 points. Four other players notched double figure totals in the losing effort.

Clarkton grouped behind the 18 point leadership of Mickey Gum to rally and nip Campbell 55- 49 in the opening junior varsity clash.

Coach Ed Street's Reindeer took an 8- 4 lead in the first period, but fell behind 28- 26 at the half and trailed 43- 33 going into the final period before opening up with a sharp shooting offense and a stingy defense to claim a 22- 6 scoring edge in the quarter for the victory.

Mike York and James Madlin hit 14 points each to pace the Camels offense.

Harrison's predictions

After getting a few right and a few wrong last week I'll try again for that perfect night. As the season progresses some teams begin to jell and others begin to fall off after a good first of the season showing.

There are some tough games to predict this week as a few of the matchups are very evenly matched.

Neelyville at Puxico --- This should be a very good game. The Indians have the home court advantage and are a rugged bunch. Neelyville has been rated in the Daily Standard top three all year but will be severely tested in this game. I will have to pick the Tigers but not by very much and I won't be surprised if it is reversed. NHS 71 PHS 69.

Matthews at East Prairie --- The Pirates have had their troubles of late and the Eagles are a good team so I am going to pick EPHS by three - - 75-72.

Sikeston at Perryville -- I am going to go with the home town boys in this one - - Bulldogs -- 65- Perryville -- 61.

Chaffee at Oran --- The Eagles are faster than the Red Devils and should have an easy win here ---76-66.

Richland at Dexter --- These two Stoddard County foes alwasy put on an interesting show. I'll have to go with the Bearcats in this one but it'll be low scoring --- 67-60.

Kelly at Oak Ridge -- The Hawks are warming up for the regional at Richland and should take the Jays - - 75-66.

Illmo - Scott City at Lilbourn --- I'm sure the Panthers are waiting to get even the with the Mustangs of North Pemiscot in the regional at Senath later but should have little trouble with the IS-C Rams - - 77-65.

Doniphan at Twin Rivers - - The Dons play good ball and I don't know much about the Royals so I'll go with the Dons --- 68-65.

Gideon at Bernie --- The Mules have Ruben White and Joe Stuever and that's about all. Gideon has a more balanced attack so my pick will be the Bulldogs -- 76-60.

Meadow Heights at College High -- The Panthers are too tall for the Preps --- 72-55.

Poplar Bluff at New Madrid -- The Indians play a tough man to man defense and should give the tall Mules fits. I'll take the Indians --- 65-60.

NEW COSMOS CHANGES COLOR

Cosmos Diablo, a 1974 All-America winner, undergoes a remarkable color change. The flowers are orange on the first day, then deepen to fiery-red.

New colors in flowers are always exciting to grow, particularly when the flower is easy to grow in all parts of the country. Cosmos Diablo, one of the six new All-America award winners for 1974, has all these qualities and more.

The flower color is unique—a deep reddish-orange, and a more desirable color for home gardens than any previous cosmos. The flowers are semi-double, measuring up to 2 in. across, and possess an unusual color-changing characteristic. The flowers open a bright orange, then deepen to fiery red after the first day.

Diablo has an upright branching habit with attractive, feathery green foliage. It has good weather tolerance, pest resistance, and it thrives in a wide range of soil conditions — even poor soil.

For best results seed of Diablo should be sown directly into the garden after danger of frost. The plants make rapid growth and soon cover themselves in hundreds of fiery-red blooms from July until frost, creating a striking effect when planted in a flower border or between shrubs.

BEDTIME or boredom? Whatever it is, "Keno," a cub at the St. Augustine, Fla., Aquatarium, opens wide enough to delight a jungle dentist.

Chief warns against burning

Sikeston Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer issued a warning against burning of any sort today. High winds and dry conditions currently present a danger of spreading any trash fires into grass fires and possibly to buildings, he said.

Water treatment plant to be in operation soon

EAST PRAIRIE — The city's new water treatment plant on Cutliph Avenue will be put into operation as soon as the recently completed water tank on Walnut Street is filled and sterilized, City Manager Bob Kakac said today.

The process of filling and sterilizing the tank began Monday and should be completed today.

When the automatic treatment plant is in operation, approximately 1,176,000 gallons of water will be filtered each day. Ray Howlett and Darriel Williams, city water department employes, are being trained to operate the plant.

Universal Tank Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, erected the water tank and Bridger Plumbing and Heating Co. of Sikeston was prime contractor for the treatment plant.

Kakac said residents will find they still have dirt and scale built up in their water lines and may not be able to see a great difference in their water pressure right away. If this continues, they may call city hall and a city crew will check out the problem, Kakac said.

Arnold to be legal advisor

BENTON — The City Council voted Monday night to hire attorney Tom Arnold as the city's legal advisor.

Arnold had previously served as city attorney, but decided not to continue in that position.

Paul Davidson of Illmo discussed fire equipment, and the council considered a proposal to establish a volunteer fire department.

Police to begin sticker check

Sikeston Police Chief Leon Culp announced today that the police department will begin checking cars for 1974 city license stickers the latter part of this week.

Motorists who live within the city limits of Sikeston should purchase the stickers at the city collector's office in the City Administrative Building.

Council plans for new city ambulance service

PORTAGEVILLE — The City Council Monday night made tentative plans for the operation of the city's ambulance service which will soon be in effect.

Mayor Barry Richardson said today the ambulance has arrived and will be in operation within a week or two.

The boundaries of the area of operation are Highway 60 on the north; floodway ditches on the west; Mississippi River on the east and Routes T and VV on the south.

The fee schedule will be $45 for a trip to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston and $35 to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti. Fee for service in the city limits of Portageville is $15.

The service will be manned by the volunteer fire department and emergency crew. The procedure will be to phone the Portageville police department, 379-5500, and police will contact the ambulance drivers.

Court purchases compactor

BENTON— The Scott County Court announced Monday that it has purchased a used front- end loader and compactor for use in operation of the county sanitary landfill. The court purchased the machine for $35,000 from Missouri-Illinois Tractor Co. of Cape Girardeau.

MIT had previously submitted a bid to the court of $55,439 for a new piece of equipment and $40,500 for the used front- end loader. However, the court reached an agreement with MIT to purchase the used model for the smaller amount.

Other bids were received from Hennessey Forrestal Machinery Co. of St. Louis, $53,412 for a new piece of equipment; Fabick Bros. Equipment Co. of Sikeston, $60,900 for a new compactor and $32,397 for a used compactor.

3 women injured in accident

Three women were injured in a two- car accident about 9 p.m. Monday at the intersection of Greer and Elm streets.

Treated and released at Missouri Delta Community Hospital were the driver of one of the cars, Marie Jameson, 70, of 806 Ruth St., for bruises and scratches to the right knee; Martha Larson, 62, of 113 E. Gladys St., scratches and bruises to the right leg; and Josephine Schwab, 79, of 631 E. Kathleen, fractured right leg.

Police said the accident occurred when Mrs. Jameson, southbound on Elm, pulled her car into the intersection after stopping for the yield sign. She said she did not see a car driven by Amon Benson Ashcraft, 28, of 230 E. Kathleen Ave. coming east on Greer.

Ashcraft was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Madrid told to prepare flood fighting equipment

NEW MADRID — The City Council Monday night discussed flood control, street lighting and heard citizen complaints.

A telegram dated Jan. 22 from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers was read which stated that the city is in an area designated as phase one by the corps for flood control. Phase one means that the city is to make ready its own floodfighting equipment and be prepared for possible flooding.

In his report to the council on units to power the city auxiliary pumps, City Administrator Don Lloyd said that electric units could be purchased at a cost of $2,800 per unit, but no immediate delivery date could be promised.

He also said he had checked on availability of local tractors for pumping and had been told several are available, including a promise by Twitty Farm Equipment Co. of Lilbourn that the city could use as many units as it might need.

A request by William Mann was denied for reimbursement of expenses incurred during last year's flood, when he had to change the water discharge pipe of an air conditioner in his business building on Main Street from discharging into the sanitary sewer system.

Also denied was the request by Mrs. A. B. Moore for $500 for damages to shrubbery along the east side of her property on Crisler Street, alleged to have occurred when the city installed a water line.

In checking the possibility of installing sodium vapor street lighting on Main Street, Lloyd said he had been advised that the existing mercury vapor lights could be improved by installing new bulbs with double the lighting capacity, and the council agreed to install new bulbs.

In other matters, the council accepted an invitation from the Business and Professional Women's Club to attend its charter presentation dinner Feb. 18.

Following adjournment, the council went into secret session.
